Membership of the 108th Congress: A Profile

Mildred L. Amer
Specialist in American National Government
Government and Finance Division

Summary

This report presents a profile of the membership of the 108th Congress. Included is information on numbers of Members, party affiliation, average age and length of service, occupations, religious affiliation, military service, female and minority Members, and foreign-born Members.

Currently, in the House, there are 228 Republicans, 209 Democrats (including five Delegates), one Independent, who is aligned with the Democrats, and two vacancies. The Senate has 51 Republicans, 48 Democrats, and one Independent, who is aligned with the Democrats.

The average age of Representatives at the beginning of the 108th Congress was 53.9 years; of Senators, 59.5 years; and of both houses, 54.9. An overwhelming majority of Members have a college education. The dominant profession of Members continues to be law, followed by business.

Protestants collectively constitute the majority religious affiliation of Members. Roman Catholics account for the largest single religious denomination, and numerous other affiliations are represented.

At the beginning of the 108th Congress, the average length of service in the House was about 9 years (4.6 terms); in the Senate, nearly 11 years (10.88 years) or 1.8 terms.

A record number of 76 women serve in the 108th Congress: 62 in the House, 14 in the Senate. Also a record 25 Hispanic Members, all in the House, including one Delegate. There are 39 black Members, all in the House, including two Delegates. Seven Members are Asian or Native Hawaiian/other Pacific Islander. There are three American Indians.

This report will be revised at the commencement of the 109th Congress unless significant changes occur in the 108th Congress.

The 108th Congress: A Profile<sup>1</sup>

Party Breakdown

In the 108th Congress, the current party breakdown in the House is 228 Republicans, 209 Democrats (including five Delegates), and one Independent who is aligned with the Democrats. The Senate has 51 Republicans, 48 Democrats, and one Independent who is aligned with the Democrats.

Age

At the beginning of the 108th Congress, the average age of Senators was 59.5 years, almost the same as in the 107th Congress, which was older than at least the previous 17 Congresses.<sup>3</sup> The average age of Representatives was 53.9 years, about the same as in the previous Congress, but also older than the previous 17 congresses.<sup>4</sup> The average age of both houses was 54.9 years.

Representatives must be at least 25 years old when they take office. The youngest Representative, as well as youngest Member of Congress, is Adam Putnam (R-FL), 29. The oldest Representative is Ralph Hall (R-TX), 80.

Senators must be at least 30 years old when they take office. The youngest Senator is freshman Senator John Sununu (R-NH), who is 39 and a former Member of the House. The oldest Senator, as well as the oldest current Member of Congress, is Robert C. Byrd (D-WV), 86.

football player (who was also a college football coach), a florist, a librarian, two vintners; and

- two auctioneers, two jewelry makers, a steelworker, a carpenter, an ironworker, a paper mill worker, a river boat captain, a hotel bellhop, a taxicab driver, a race track blacksmith, and a “jackeroo” (cowboy) on a sheep-cattle ranch.

Education<sup>8</sup>

As has been true in previous Congresses, the Members of the 108th Congress are well educated. At least 400 Members of the House and 97 Senators hold bachelor’s degrees; 123 Members of the House and 19 Senators have master’s degrees; 176 Members of the House and 59 Senators hold law degrees; 18 Members of the House have doctoral degrees; and 11 Members of the House and three Senators hold medical degrees.<sup>9</sup>

In addition, there are two graduates of the U. S. Military Academy, one in the House and one in the Senate; one Senator is a graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy; one Representative (a woman) is a graduate of the U.S. Air Force Academy; five Representatives and three Senators were Rhodes Scholars; one Representative was a Fulbright Scholar, and one was a Marshall Scholar.

Congressional Service<sup>10</sup>

At the beginning of the 108th Congress, the average length of service of Members of the House was about 9 years or 4.6 terms, the highest it has been since the 102nd Congress (1992-1993). Representatives are elected for 2-year terms. Representative John Dingell (D-MI) has the longest consecutive service of any Member of the 108th Congress (48 years). Currently the dean of the House, he began serving on December 13, 1955.<sup>11</sup>

At the beginning of the 108th Congress, the average length of service of Senators was nearly 11 years, the highest since the 103rd Congress (1993-1995). Senators are elected for 6-year terms. Senator Robert C. Byrd (D-WV) has served longer (45 years) than any other incumbent Member of the Senate. His service began on January 3, 1959. Senator Ted Stevens (R-AK), the Senate President pro tempore, is the current Republican Senator with the longest Senate service (35 years). He has served since December 24, 1968.

<sup>9</sup> Six Reps., one Sen., and one Del. have an M.D. degree; three Reps. have a D.D.S. (doctor of dental surgery) degree; two Sens. have a D.V.M. (doctor of veterinary medicine) degree; and one Rep. has an O.D. (doctor of optometry) degree.

<sup>10</sup> Note that 49 Sens. in the 108th Congress have previously served in the House of Representatives.

<sup>11</sup> Rep. Philip M. Crane (R-IL), who has served in the House for 34 years, is the Republican in the 108th Congress with the longest continuous House service.

Religion<sup>12</sup>

Most Members of the 108th Congress cite a specific religious affiliation. Protestants (Episcopalians, Methodists, Baptists, Presbyterians, and others) collectively constitute the majority religious affiliation of Members. However, Roman Catholics account for the largest single religious denomination. Other affiliations, such as Greek Orthodox, Jewish, Christian Scientist, and The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints (Mormon), make up the balance.

Female and Minority Members

A record number of 76 women serve in the 108th Congress: 62 in the House (the same as the record number in the 107th Congress), and 14 in the Senate. The 14 female Senators are a new record. Of the 62 women in the House, 41 are Democrats, including three Delegates, and 21 are Republicans. In the Senate, nine women are Democrats; five are Republicans.

A record 25 Hispanic Members are in the 108th Congress. All serve in the House, and one is a Delegate. Twenty are Democrats, seven are women. Two Hispanic Members are brothers, and two are sisters. Mario and Lincoln Diaz-Balart are Republicans from Florida. Linda and Loretta Sanchez are Democrats from California.<sup>13</sup>

There are 39 black Members of the 108th Congress, two fewer than the record number of 41 in the 104th Congress. All 39, including two Delegates, serve in the House and are Democrats. Thirteen black women serve in the House, including two Delegates.

Seven Members are of Asian or Native Hawaiian/other Pacific Islander heritage. Five serve in the House and two in the Senate. One is a Delegate, and one is an African American with Filipino heritage. All are Democrats.

There are three American Indian Members of the 108th Congress. Two, one from each party, serve in the House. The third is a Republican Member of the Senate.

Foreign Born<sup>14</sup>

Eight Members of the House were born outside the United States. Their places of birth include Cuba, Hungary, Taiwan, Japan, Mexico, Pakistan, and the Netherlands. No current Senators were born outside the United States, although a number of previous Senators were foreign born.

Military Service<sup>15</sup>

There are 154 Members of the 108th Congress who have had some form of military service, some 14 fewer than in the 107th Congress. The House has 119 veterans: 71 Republicans and 48 Democrats, including one woman, who is a Republican. In the Senate, 35 Members are veterans: 19 Republicans and 16 Democrats. They have served in World War II, the Korean War, Vietnam, the Persian Gulf, and Kosovo, and during times of peace, as well as in the Reserves and the National Guard. One Senator is a former Secretary of the Navy. There has been a steady decline in the number of Members who have served in the military, which may be attributed in part to the end of the Selective Service System draft in 1973.
