Summary

The Small Business Administration (SBA) administers several programs to support small businesses, including loan guaranty programs designed to encourage lenders to provide loans to small businesses “that might not otherwise obtain financing on reasonable terms and conditions.” The SBA’s 7(a) loan guaranty program is the agency’s flagship loan program. It derives its name from Section 7(a) of the Small Business Act of 1953 (P.L. 83-163, as amended), which authorizes the SBA to provide business loans and loan guaranties to American small businesses.

In FY2020, the SBA approved 42,302 7(a) loans totaling nearly $22.6 billion. The average approved 7(a) loan amount was $533,075.

This report discusses the 7(a) program’s borrower and lender eligibility standards and program requirements; and program statistics, including loan volume, loss rates, use of proceeds, borrower satisfaction, and borrower demographics. It also examines issues raised concerning the SBA’s administration of the 7(a) program, including oversight of 7(a) lenders and the program’s lack of outcome-based performance measures.

This report also examines congressional and SBA actions to enhance small businesses’ access to capital, including actions taken during and immediately following the Great Recession (2007-2009) and, more recently, to address the Coronavirus Disease 2019 (COVID-19) pandemic’s adverse economic impact on the national economy. For example,

- P.L. 116-136, the Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security Act (CARES Act), among other provisions, created the $349 billion (now $806.45 billion) Paycheck Protection Program (PPP) and appropriated $17 billion for six-month payment relief for existing 7(a), 504/CDC, or Microloan borrowers. Loans fully disbursed up until six months after enactment (until September 27, 2020) were also eligible for six months of loan payments. The act also temporarily increased the SBAExpress loan limit from $350,000 to $1 million (reverting to $350,000 on January 1, 2021) and eliminated the zero subsidy requirement to waive SBAExpress loan fees for veterans.
- P.L. 116-260, the Economic Aid to Hard-Hit Small Businesses, Nonprofits, and Venues Act (Division N, Title III of the Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2021), among other provisions, appropriated $3.5 billion to resume monthly payment relief for 7(a), 504/CDC, and Microloan borrowers, capped at $9,000 per month per borrower. Payments are dependent on the availability of funds, when the loan was disbursed, the type of loan received, and the business’s industry. The act also extended the temporary increase in the SBAExpress loan limit from $350,000 to $1 million (reverting to $500,000 on October 1, 2021), increased the SBAExpress guaranty rate for loans of $350,000 or less from 50% to 75% in FY2021, waived the SBA’s fees for the 7(a) and 504/CDC loan guarantee programs in FY2021, and increased the 7(a) program’s loan guaranty rate from 85% for loans of $150,000 or less and 75% for loans greater than $150,000 (up to a maximum guaranty of $3.75 million—75% of $5 million) to 90% in FY2021.

Appendix A provides a brief description of the 7(a) program’s SBAExpress and Community Advantage programs. Appendix B provides a summary of the CARES Act’s key provisions, including legislative and regulatory changes to those provisions.

Small Business Administration Loan Guaranty Programs

The Small Business Administration (SBA) administers programs to support small businesses, including loan guaranty programs to encourage lenders to provide loans to small businesses “that might not otherwise obtain financing on reasonable terms and conditions.”<sup>1</sup> The SBA’s 7(a) loan guaranty program is the agency’s flagship loan program.<sup>2</sup> It derives its name from Section 7(a) of the Small Business Act of 1953 (P.L. 83-163, as amended), which authorizes the SBA to provide and guarantee business loans to American small businesses.

The SBA also administers several 7(a) subprograms that offer streamlined and expedited loan procedures for particular groups of borrowers, including the SBAExpress and Community Advantage Pilot programs (see the Appendix A for additional details). Although these subprograms have their own distinguishing eligibility requirements, terms, and benefits, they operate under the 7(a) program’s authorization.<sup>3</sup>

In FY2020, the SBA approved 42,302 7(a) loans totaling nearly $22.6 billion. The average approved 7(a) loan amount was $533,075.<sup>4</sup>

Congress has always shown a great interest in the 7(a) loan program because of concerns that small businesses might be prevented from accessing sufficient capital to enable them to grow and create jobs. That interest has grown especially acute in the wake of the Coronavirus Disease 2019 (COVID-19) pandemic’s adverse economic impact on the national economy. For example,

- P.L. 116-136, the Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security Act (CARES Act), among other provisions, created the $349 billion (now $806.45 billion) Paycheck Protection Program (PPP) and appropriated $17 billion for six-month payment relief for existing 7(a), 504/CDC, or Microloan borrowers ($7.1 billion was spent).<sup>5</sup> Loans fully disbursed (i.e., in a regular servicing status) up until six months after enactment (until September 27, 2020) were also eligible for six months of loan payments.<sup>6</sup> The act also temporarily increased the SBAExpress

The number of 7(a) loans approved annually is typically about 10% to 20% higher than the number of loans disbursed (e.g., some borrowers decide not to accept the loan or there is a change in business ownership). The amount of 7(a) loans approved annually is typically about 10% to 15% higher than the amount disbursed.

<sup>5</sup> Of the $17 billion appropriated, $7.1 billion was spent and the remainder was rescinded by P.L. 116-260, the Economic Aid to Hard-Hit Small Businesses, Nonprofits, and Venues Act (Division N, Title III of the Consolidated Appropriations Act of 2021). See SBA, “SBA Extends Crucial Lifeline to Borrowers Impacted by COVID-19 with Debt Relief,” January 10, 2021, at <https://www.sba.gov/article/2021/jan/10/sba-extends-crucial-lifeline-borrowers-impacted-covid-19-debt-relief>.

<sup>6</sup> Community Advantage Recovery Loans fully disbursed up until October 1, 2020, were eligible for six months of loan payments. See SBA, “Guidance on the Implementation of the Extension of the Section 1112 Debt Relief Program for the 7(a) and 504 Loan Programs, as Authorized by Section 325 of the Economic Aid to Hard-Hit Small Businesses, Nonprofits, and Venues Act,” Procedural Notice 5000-20079, January 19, 2021, at <https://www.sba.gov/document/>

- loan limit from $350,000 to $1 million (reverting to $350,000 on January 1, 2021) and eliminated the zero subsidy requirement to waive SBAExpress loan fees for veterans.
- P.L. 116-260, the Economic Aid to Hard-Hit Small Businesses, Nonprofits, and Venues Act (Division N, Title III of the Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2021), among other provisions, appropriated $3.5 billion to resume monthly payment relief for 7(a), 504/CDC, and Microloan borrowers, capped at $9,000 per month per borrower. Payments are dependent on the availability of funds, when the loan was disbursed, the type of loan received, and the business's industry.<sup>7</sup> The act also extended the temporary increase in the SBAExpress loan limit from $350,000 to $1 million (reverting to $500,000 on October 1, 2021), increased the SBAExpress guaranty rate for loans of $350,000 or less from 50% to 75% in FY2021, waived the SBA's fees for the 7(a) and 504/CDC loan guarantee programs in FY2021, and increased the 7(a) program's guaranty rate from 85% for loans of $150,000 or less and 75% for loans greater than $150,000 (up to a maximum guaranty of $3.75 million—75% of $5 million) to 90% in FY2021.

The small business relief legislation enacted during the 116th Congress includes several provisions (e.g., fee waivers, increased loan limits, and increased loan guarantee percentages) that were enacted during the 111th Congress to address the economic slowdown during and immediately following the Great Recession (2007-2009). Back then, many Members of Congress argued that the SBA should be provided additional resources to assist small businesses in acquiring capital necessary to start, continue, or expand operations with the expectation that in so doing small businesses would retain and create jobs. Others worried about the long-term adverse economic effects of spending programs that increase the federal deficit. They advocated business tax reduction, reform of financial credit market regulation, and federal fiscal restraint as the best means to help small businesses further economic growth and job creation.

A major difference between then and now is that given COVID-19's widespread adverse economic impact, resulting primarily from physical distancing and the resulting decrease in consumer spending, there is an added emphasis now on SBA loan deferrals, loan forgiveness, and expanded eligibility, including, for the first time, specified types of nonprofit organizations. There has also been less concern about fiscal restraint than during the 111th Congress.

This report examines the 7(a) program's borrower and lender eligibility standards and program requirements; and program statistics, including loan volume, loss rates, use of the proceeds, borrower satisfaction, and borrower demographics. It also examines issues raised concerning the SBA's administration of the 7(a) program, including the oversight of 7(a) lenders and the program's lack of outcome-based performance measures.

<sup>7</sup> The SBA has announced that the $3.5 billion appropriation will enable the agency to provide two additional monthly payments on 7(a) and 504/CDC loans that were in repayment before March 27, 2020, starting with the next payment due on or after February 1, 2021. After the first two monthly payments are provided, businesses with an SBA Community Advantage loan, Microloan, or operating in specified economically hard-hit industries will receive an additional three monthly payments. Loans approved from February 1, 2021, through September 30, 2021, will receive three monthly payments beginning with the first payment due. See SBA, "Adjustment to Number of Months of Section 1112 Payments in the 7(a), 504 and Microloan Programs Due to Insufficiency of Funds," SBA Procedural Notice, 5000-20095, February 16, 2021, at <https://www.sba.gov/document/procedural-notice-5000-20095-adjustment-number-months-section-1112-payments-7a-504-microloan-programs-due-insufficiency-funds>.

In addition, recent congressional and SBA actions to enhance small businesses' access to capital are examined, including actions taken during and immediately following the Great Recession (2007-2009) and, more recently, to address the COVID-19 pandemic's adverse economic impact on the national economy.

Borrower Eligibility Standards and Program Requirements

The following eligibility standards and program requirements apply to the 7(a) program. The CARES Act created separate eligibility standards and program requirements for the Payment Protection Program (PPP), including, for the first time, eligibility for nonprofit organizations (see Appendix B for the CARES Act's major provisions).<sup>8</sup>

Borrower Eligibility Standards

To be eligible for an SBA business loan, a small business applicant must

- be located in the United States;
- be a for-profit operating business (except for loans to eligible passive companies and businesses engaged in specified industries, such as insurance companies and financial institutions primarily engaged in lending);<sup>9</sup>
- qualify as small under the SBA's size requirements;<sup>10</sup>
- demonstrate a need for the desired credit; and
- be certified by a lender that the desired credit is unavailable to the applicant on reasonable terms and conditions from nonfederal sources without SBA assistance.<sup>11</sup>

To qualify for an SBA 7(a) loan, applicants must be creditworthy and able to reasonably assure repayment. SBA requires lenders to consider the strength of the business and the applicant's

- character, reputation, and credit history;
- experience and depth of management;
- past earnings, projected cash flow, and future prospects;
- ability to repay the loan with earnings from the business;
- sufficient invested equity to operate on a sound financial basis;
- potential for long-term success;

<sup>9</sup> A list of ineligible businesses is contained in 13 C.F.R. §120.110. In 2017, the SBA removed consumer and marketing cooperatives from the list of ineligible businesses. See SBA, "Miscellaneous Amendments to Business Loan Programs and Surety Bond Guarantee Program," 82 Federal Register 39492, August 21, 2017.

- nature and value of collateral (although inadequate collateral will not be the sole reason for denial of a loan request); and
- affiliates' effect on the applicant's repayment ability.<sup>12</sup>

Borrower Program Requirements

Use of Proceeds

Borrowers may use 7(a) loan proceeds to establish a new business or to assist in the operation, acquisition, or expansion of an existing business. 7(a) loan proceeds may be used to

- acquire land (by purchase or lease);
- improve a site (e.g., grading, streets, parking lots, landscaping), including up to 5% for community improvements such as curbs and sidewalks;
- purchase one or more existing buildings;
- convert, expand, or renovate one or more existing buildings;
- construct one or more new buildings;
- acquire (by purchase or lease) and install fixed assets;
- purchase inventory, supplies, and raw materials;
- finance working capital; and
- refinance certain outstanding debts.<sup>13</sup>

Borrowers are prohibited from using 7(a) loan proceeds to

- refinance existing debt where the lender is in a position to sustain a loss and the SBA would take over that loss through refinancing;
- effect a partial change of business ownership or a change that will not benefit the business;
- permit the reimbursement of funds owed to any owner, including any equity injection or injection of capital for the business's continuance until the loan supported by the SBA is disbursed;
- repay delinquent state or federal withholding taxes or other funds that should be held in trust or escrow; or
- pay for a nonsound business purpose.<sup>14</sup>

Loan Amounts

P.L. 111-240, the Small Business Jobs Act of 2010, increased the 7(a) program's maximum gross loan amount for any one 7(a) loan from $2 million to $5 million (up to $3.75 million maximum guaranty). In FY2020, the average approved 7(a) loan amount was $533,075, and about 6% of all 7(a) loans exceeded $2 million.<sup>15</sup>

<sup>15</sup> SBA, "SBA Lending Statistics for Major Programs (as of 9/30/2020)." 2,735 7(a) loans totaling at least $2 million were approved in FY2020.

Loan Terms, Interest Rate, and Collateral

Loan Terms

A 7(a) loan is required to have the shortest appropriate term, depending upon the borrower's ability to repay. The maximum term is 10 years, unless the loan finances or refinances real estate or equipment with a useful life exceeding 10 years. In that case, the loan term can be up to 25 years, including extensions.<sup>16</sup>

Interest Rate

Lenders are allowed to charge borrowers "a reasonable fixed interest rate" or, with the SBA's approval, a variable interest rate.<sup>17</sup> The SBA uses a multistep formula to determine the maximum allowable fixed interest rate for all 7(a) loans (with the exception of the Export Working Capital Program and Community Advantage loans) and periodically publishes that rate and the maximum allowable variable interest rate in the Federal Register.<sup>18</sup>

The maximum allowable fixed interest rates in February 2021 are 11.25% for 7(a) loans of $25,000 or less; 10.25% for loans over $25,000 but not exceeding $50,000; 9.25% for loans over $50,000 up to and including $250,000; and 8.25% for loans greater than $250,000.<sup>19</sup>

The 7(a) program's maximum allowable variable interest rate is determined by a formula that starts with the lender selecting a base rate from among the following: the lowest prime rate (3.25% in February 2021), the 30-day LIBOR rate plus 300 basis points (3.11% in February 2021), or the SBA optional peg rate (1.13% in the second quarter of FY2021).<sup>20</sup> The optional peg rate is a weighted average of rates the federal government pays for loans with maturities similar to the average SBA loan.<sup>21</sup>

The lender may charge the borrower a variable rate that is pegged to the base rate and varies depending on the loan's amount and maturity.<sup>22</sup> The maximum variable interest rate allowed applies only to the initial rate on the date SBA received the loan application.

<sup>16</sup> 13 C.F.R. §120.212. A portion of a 7(a) loan used to acquire or improve real property may have a term of 25 years plus an additional period needed to complete the construction or improvements.

<sup>18</sup> For fixed interest rates, the SBA, effective November 6, 2018, uses the prime rate (see 13 C.F.R. §120.214(c)) in effect on the first business day of the month as the base rate and increases the maximum allowable interest rate spread as follows: for fixed rate loans of $25,000 or less, prime plus 600 basis points, plus the 200 basis points permitted by 13 C.F.R. §120.215; for fixed rate loans over $25,000 but not exceeding $50,000, prime plus 600 basis points, plus the 100 basis points permitted by 13 C.F.R. §120.215; for fixed rate loans greater than $50,000 but not exceeding $250,000, prime plus 600 basis points; and for fixed rate loans over $250,000, prime plus 500 basis points. SBA, "Maximum Allowable 7(a) Fixed Interest Rates," 83 Federal Register 55478, November 6, 2018. <sup>22</sup> The maximum variable interest rates allowed for 7(a) loans with a maturity less than seven years are the base rate plus 4.25% for loans less than $25,000; the base rate plus 3.25% for loans of $25,000-$50,000; and the base rate plus 2.25% for loans over $50,000. The maximum variable interest rates allowed for 7(a) loans with a maturity of seven years or longer are the base rate plus 4.75% for loans less than $25,000; the base rate plus 3.75% for loans of $25,000-

Collateral

For 7(a) loans of $25,000 or less, the SBA does not require lenders to take collateral. For 7(a) loans exceeding $25,000 to $350,000, the lender must follow the collateral policies and procedures that it has established and implemented for its similarly sized non-SBA-guaranteed commercial loans. However, the lender must, at a minimum, obtain a first lien on assets financed with loan proceeds, and a lien on all of the applicant's fixed assets, including real estate, up to the point that the loan is fully secured. For 7(a) loans exceeding $350,000, the SBA requires lenders to collateralize the loan to the maximum extent possible up to the loan amount.<sup>23</sup> If business assets do not fully secure the loan, the lender may place a lien against the principal's personal real estate (residential and investment) to the extent necessary to ensure that the loan is fully secured.<sup>24</sup>

7(a) loans are considered "fully secured" if the lender has taken security interests in all available fixed assets with a combined "net book value" up to the loan amount.<sup>25</sup> The SBA directs lenders to not decline a loan solely on the basis of inadequate collateral because "one of the primary reasons lenders use the SBA-guaranteed program is for those Applicants that demonstrate repayment ability but lack adequate collateral to repay the loan in full in the event of a default."<sup>26</sup>

Lender Eligibility Standards and Program Requirements

Lender Eligibility Standards

Lenders must have a continuing ability to evaluate, process, close, disburse, service, and liquidate small business loans; be open to the public for the making of such loans (and not be a financing subsidiary, engaged primarily in financing the operations of an affiliate); have continuing good character and reputation; and be supervised and examined by a state or federal regulatory authority, satisfactory to the SBA. They must also maintain satisfactory performance, as determined by the SBA through on-site review/examination assessments, historical performance measures (such as default rate, purchase rate, and loss rate), and loan volume to the extent that it affects performance measures.<sup>27</sup> In FY2019, 1,708 lenders provided 7(a) loans.<sup>28</sup>

New machinery and equipment may be valued at no more than 75% of price minus any prior liens for the calculation of "fully secured." Used or existing machinery and equipment (excluding furniture and fixtures) may be valued at no more than 50% of Net Book Value or 80% with an Orderly Liquidation Appraisal minus any prior liens for the calculation of "fully-secured." Improved real estate can be valued at 85% and unimproved real estate can be valued at 50% of the market value for the calculation of "fully-secured." Furniture and fixtures may be valued at no more than 10% of Net Book Value or appraised value.

PLP Lenders

The SBA started the Preferred Lenders Program (PLP) on March 1, 1983, initially on a pilot basis.<sup>29</sup> It is designed to streamline the procedures necessary to provide financial assistance to small businesses by delegating the final credit decision and most servicing and liquidation authority and responsibility to carefully selected PLP lenders.<sup>30</sup> PLP loan approvals are subject only to a brief eligibility review and the assignment of a loan number by SBA.<sup>31</sup> PLP lenders draft the SBA Authorization (of loan guaranty approval) without the SBA's review, and execute it on behalf of the SBA. In FY2020, PLP lenders approved 19,604 7(a) loans (46.3% of all 7(a) loans), amounting to $17.0 billion (75.3% of the total amount approved).<sup>32</sup>

PLP lenders must comply with all of the SBA's business loan eligibility requirements, credit policies, and procedures. The PLP lender is required to stay informed on, and apply, all of the SBA's loan program requirements. They must also complete and retain in the lender's file all forms and documents required of standard 7(a) loan packages.<sup>33</sup> The SBA uses an automated system to assess PLP lender performance quarterly using a composite risk rating system. PLP lenders with an outstanding SBA balance of $10 million or more may also be subject to more in-depth reviews.<sup>34</sup>

Lender Program Requirements

The Application Process

Borrowers submit applications for a 7(a) business loan to private lenders. The lender reviews the application and decides if it merits a loan on its own or if it has some weaknesses which, in the lender's opinion, do not meet standard, conventional underwriting guidelines and require additional support in the form of an SBA guaranty. The SBA guaranty assures the lender that if the borrower does not repay the loan and the lender has adhered to all applicable regulations

The SBA established a Certified Lenders Program on February 26, 1979, but removed CLP authority from the Code of Federal Regulations (13 C.F.R. §120.440-120.441) effective January 1, 2018. The CLP program was designed to provide expeditious service on 7(a) loan applications received from lenders who have a successful SBA lending track record and a thorough understanding of SBA policies and procedures. In recent years, CLP lenders approved less than 1.0% of the number of 7(a) loans approved each year and less than 2.0% of the amount of 7(a) loans approved each year. For further information concerning the CLP program see U.S. Congress, Senate Select Committee on Small Business, SBA Loan Oversight, hearing on SBA loan oversight, 96th Cong., 1st sess., September 18, 1997 (Washington: GPO, 1997), p. 31; GAO, SBA's Pilot Programs to Improve Guaranty Loan Procedures Need Further Development, CED-81-25, February 2, 1981, p. 7, at <http://www.gao.gov/assets/140/131789.pdf>; and GAO, SBA's Certified Lenders Program Falls Short of Expectations, RCED-83-99, June 7, 1983, p. 1, at <http://www.gao.gov/assets/150/140126.pdf>.

concerning the loan, the SBA will reimburse the lender for its loss, up to the percentage of the SBA's guaranty. The small business borrowing the money remains obligated for the full amount due.

If the lender determines that it is willing to provide the loan, but only with an SBA guaranty, it submits the application for approval to the SBA's Loan Guaranty Processing Center (LGPC) through the SBA's E-Tran (Electronic Loan Processing/ Servicing) website (which is available through SBA One, the SBA's automated lending platform) or, if attachments to the application are too large for E-Tran, by secured electronic file transfer.

The LGPC has two physical locations: Citrus Heights, CA, and Hazard, KY.<sup>35</sup> This center processes 7(a) loan guaranty applications for lenders who do not have delegated authority to make 7(a) loans without the SBA's final approval.

PLP and express lenders are authorized to make credit decisions without SBA review prior to loan approval. However, the PLP and express lender's analysis is subject to the SBA's review and determination of adequacy when the lender requests the SBA to purchase its guaranty and when the SBA is conducting a review of the lender.<sup>36</sup>

As an additional safeguard against the potential for loan defaults, the SBA now requires all non-express 7(a) loans of $350,000 or less to be SBA credit scored through E-Tran prior to submission/approval.<sup>37</sup>

- If the credit score is below the minimum set by the SBA (currently a Small Business Scoring Service score of 155 for 7(a) loans of $350,000 or less), the loan must be submitted to the SBA for approval with a full credit write-up for consideration. The loan cannot be processed under delegated authority.<sup>38</sup>
- If the credit score is acceptable to the SBA, the lender is a PLP lender, and the loan is eligible to be processed under the PLP lender's delegated authority, the lender will receive an SBA loan number indicating that the loan is approved.<sup>39</sup> The PLP lender's documentation, including underwriting, closing, and servicing, must be maintained in their files, and can be reviewed by the SBA at any time.
- If the lender is not a PLP lender or if the loan is not eligible to be submitted under the PLP lender's delegated authority, the lender must refer the loan to the LGPC for review.

<sup>39</sup> If the PLP lender indicates that the loan is eligible to be processed under the PLP lender's delegated authority, the lender is also certifying that SBA Form 1920 has been completed, signed, dated, and filed in the loan file.

The application materials required for a SBA guaranty vary depending on the size of the loan ($350,000 or less versus exceeding $350,000) and the method of processing used by the lender (standard versus expedited/express).

The following SBA documentation is required for all 7(a) standard loans of $350,000 or less:

- Form 1919: Borrower Information Form. SBA form 1919 provides information about the borrower (name, name of business, social security number, date and place of birth, gender, race, veteran, etc.); the loan request; any indebtedness; the principals and affiliates; current or previous government financing; the applicant's eligibility (e.g., criminal information, citizenship status); the loan's eligibility for delegated or expedited processing (e.g., the borrower is not more than 60 days delinquent in child support payments, not proposed or presently excluded from participation in this transaction by any federal department or agency, has no potential for a conflict of interest due to an owner being a current or former SBA employee, a Member of Congress, or a SCORE volunteer); and, among other disclosures, the firm's existing number of employees, the number of jobs to be created as a result of the loan, and the number of jobs that will be retained as a result of the loan that would have otherwise been lost.<sup>40</sup>
- Form 912: Statement of Personal History. SBA form 912 is required if the borrower reports on Form 1919 an arrest in the past six months for a criminal offense or had ever been convicted, plead guilty, plead nolo contendere, been placed on pretrial diversion, or been placed on any form of parole or probation (including probation before judgment) of any criminal offense.<sup>41</sup> Form 912 requires the borrower to furnish details concerning his or her offense(s) and authorizes the SBA's Office of Inspector General to request criminal record information about the applicant from criminal justice agencies for determining program eligibility. It must be dated within 90 days of the application's submission to the SBA.
- Form 159: Fee Disclosure and Compensation Agreement. SBA form 159 is required if the borrower reports on Form 1919 that he or she used (or intends to use) a packager, broker, accountant, lawyer, etc. to assist in preparing the loan application or any related materials.<sup>42</sup> SBA form 159 is also required if the lender retains the services of a packager, broker, accountant, lawyer, etc. to assist in preparing the loan application or any related materials. Form 159 provides identifying information about the packager, broker, accountant, lawyer, etc. and the fees paid to any such person.
- Form 601: Agreement of Compliance (prohibiting discrimination). SBA form 601 is required if the borrower reports on Form 1919 that more than $10,000 of the loan proceeds will be used for construction.<sup>43</sup> Form 601 certifies that the borrower will cooperate actively in obtaining compliance with Executive Order 11246, which prohibits discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, or national origin and requires affirmative action to ensure equality of opportunity in all aspects of employment related to federally assisted construction projects in excess of $10,000.

- Form 1920: Lenders Application for Guaranty for all 7(a) Programs.<sup>44</sup> SBA form 1920 provides identifying information about the lender; the loan type (standard, SBAExpress, Export Express, etc.); loan terms; use of proceeds; the business's size and information about affiliates, if any; the applicant's character; if credit is reasonably available elsewhere; the type of business; potential conflicts of interest; and other information such the number of jobs created or retained. PLP lenders complete the form and retain it in the loan file. Other lenders must submit this form electronically to the LGPC.
- Verification of Alien Status. Documentation of the U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) status of each alien is required prior to submission of the application to the SBA.
- Lender's Credit Memorandum. For loans up to and including $350,000, the Lender's Credit Memorandum includes a brief description of the history of the business and its management; the debt service coverage ratio (net operating income compared to total debt service must be at least 1:1); statement that the lender has reconciled financial data (including seller's financial data) against IRS transcripts; an owner/guarantor analysis (including personal financial condition); lender's discussion of life insurance requirements; explanation and justification for any refinancing; analysis of credit, including lender's rationale for recommending approval; for a change of ownership, discussion/analysis of business valuation and how the change benefits the business; discussion of any liens, judgments, or bankruptcy filings; and discussion of any other relevant information. For loans exceeding $350,000, the Lender's Credit Memorandum must also include an analysis of collateral and a financial analysis which includes an analysis of the historical financial statements; defining assumptions supporting projected cash flow; and, when used, spread of pro forma balance sheet, ratio calculations, and working capital analysis.<sup>45</sup>
- Cash Flow Projections. A projection of the borrower's cash flow, month-by-month for one year, is required for all new businesses, and when otherwise applicable.

The following forms and documentation are also required for 7(a) standard loans exceeding $350,000:

- Form 413: Personal Financial Statement. SBA form 413 provides detailed information concerning the applicant's assets and liabilities and must be dated

- Form 1846: Statement Regarding Lobbying. SBA Form 1846 must be signed and dated by lender.<sup>46</sup> It indicates that if any funds have been paid or will be paid to any person for influencing or attempting to influence an officer or employee of any agency, a Member of Congress, an officer or employee of Congress, or an officer or employee of a Member of Congress in connection with this commitment, the lender will complete and submit a Standard Form LLL “Disclosure of Lobbying Activities.”<sup>47</sup>
- A copy of Internal Revenue Service (IRS) Form 4506-T, Request for Copy of Tax Return. Lenders must identify the date IRS Form 4506-T was sent to the IRS. For nondelegated lenders, verification of IRS Form 4506-T is required prior to submission of the application to the SBA. For PLP and express lenders, verification of IRS Form 4506-T is required prior the first disbursement.
- Business Financial Statements or tax returns dated within 180 days of the application's submission to the SBA, consisting of (1) year-end balance sheets for the last three years, (2) year-end profit and loss statements for the last three years, (3) reconciliation of net worth, (4) interim balance sheet, and (5) interim profit and loss statements.

Proper evidence of a borrower’s equity injection may include the copy of a check or wire transfer together with proof that the check or wire transfer was processed, or a copy of an escrow settlement sheet with a bank account statement showing the injection into the business prior to disbursement. A promissory note, “gift letter,” or financial statement is generally not sufficient evidence.<sup>49</sup>

SBA Guaranty and Servicing Fees

To offset its costs, the SBA is authorized to charge lenders an up-front, one-time guaranty fee and an annual, ongoing service fee for each 7(a) loan approved and disbursed.<sup>50</sup> The guaranty fee is a percentage of the SBA guaranteed portion of the loan. As mentioned, these fees are being waived in FY2021.<sup>51</sup>

When imposed, the SBA’s fees vary depending on loan amount and maturity (see Table 1). The maximum guaranty fee for 7(a) loans with maturities exceeding 12 months is set by statute and varies depending on the loan amount.<sup>52</sup> On short-term loans (maturities of less than 12 months), the lender must pay the guaranty fee to the SBA electronically through www.pay.gov within 10 days from the date the SBA loan number is assigned. If the fee is not received within the specified time frame, the SBA will cancel the guaranty. On loans with maturities in excess of 12 months, the lender must pay the guaranty fee to the SBA within 90 days of the date of loan approval. Otherwise, the guarantee will be cancelled.<sup>53</sup>

For short-term loans (maturities of 12 months or less), the lender may charge the guaranty fee to the borrower only after the lender has paid the guaranty fee. For loans with maturities in excess of 12 months, the lender may charge the guaranty fee to the borrower after initial disbursement.<sup>54</sup> Lenders are permitted to retain 25% of the guaranty fee on loans with a gross amount of $150,000 or less.<sup>55</sup>

When imposed, the annual service fee cannot exceed 0.55% of the outstanding balance of the SBA’s share of the loan and is required to be no more than the “rate necessary to reduce to zero

<sup>49</sup> SBA, “SOP 50 10 6,” p. 234. The SBA requires borrowers to provide an equity injection under specified circumstances. For example, start-up businesses (those in operation for up to one year) are required to provide at least 10% of total project costs to indicate that the business can operate on a sound financial basis.

<sup>52</sup> P.L. 108-447, the Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2005 (Division K—Small Business, Section 102. Loan Guaranty Fees) established the SBA’s current maximum up-front guaranty fees as: up to 2% of the SBA guaranteed portion of 7(a) loans of $150,000 or less, up to 3% of the SBA guaranteed portion of 7(a) loans exceeding $150,000 but not more than $700,000, and up to 3.5% of the SBA guaranteed portion of 7(a) loans exceeding $700,000. In addition, 7(a) loans with an SBA guaranteed portion in excess of $1 million can be charged an additional 0.25% guaranty fee on the guaranteed amount in excess of $1 million. See 15 U.S.C. §636(a)(18)(a); and SBA, “Small Business Jobs Act: Implementation of Conforming and Technical Amendments,” 76 Federal Register 63544-63545, October 13, 2011.

the cost to the Administration” of making guaranties.<sup>56</sup> The lender’s annual service fee to the SBA cannot be charged to the borrower.<sup>57</sup>

This is not the first time that SBA fees have been waived. For example, in an effort to assist veteran-owned small businesses, the SBA waived its up-front, one-time guaranty fee for all veteran loans under the 7(a) SBAExpress program (up to $350,000) from January 1, 2014, through the end of FY2015. P.L. 114-38, the Veterans Entrepreneurship Act of 2015, made this fee waiver permanent, except during any upcoming fiscal year for which the President’s budget, submitted to Congress, includes a cost for the 7(a) program, in its entirety, that is above zero (which occurred in FY2020). The CARES Act permanently eliminated the zero subsidy requirement.<sup>58</sup>

<sup>58</sup> The SBA also waived 50% of the up-front, one-time guaranty fee on all non-SBAExpress 7(a) loans of $150,001 to $5 million for veterans in FY2015 and FY2016; 50% of the up-front, one-time guaranty fee on all non-SBAExpress 7(a) loans of $150,001 to $500,000 for veterans in FY2017; and 50% of the up-front, one-time guaranty fee on all non-SBAExpress 7(a) loans of $125,001 to $350,000 for veterans in FY2018.

In addition, the SBA waived its annual service fee for all 7(a) loans of $150,000 or less approved from FY2014 through FY2016 (the annual service fee for other small businesses was 0.52% in FY2014, 0.519% in FY2015, and 0.473% in FY2016); waived the annual service fee for 7(a) loans of $150,000 or less made to small businesses located in a rural area or a HUBZone in FY2019 (the annual service fee for other small businesses was 0.55% in FY2019); waived the up-front, one-time guaranty fee for all 7(a) loans of $150,000 or less approved from FY2014 through FY2017; waived the up-front, one-time guaranty fee for all 7(a) loans of $125,000 or less approved in FY2018; and reduced the up-front, one-time guaranty fee for loans made to small businesses located in a rural area or a HUBZone from 2% to 0.6667% of the guaranteed portion of the loan in FY2019.

Lender Packaging, Servicing, and Other Fees

The lender may charge an applicant “reasonable fees” customary for similar lenders in the geographic area where the loan is being made for packaging and other services. The lender must advise the applicant in writing that the applicant is not required to obtain or pay for unwanted services. These fees are subject to SBA review at any time, and the lender must refund any such fee considered unreasonable by the SBA.<sup>59</sup>

The lender may also charge an applicant an additional fee if, subject to prior written SBA approval, all or part of a loan will have extraordinary servicing needs. The additional fee cannot exceed 2% per year on the outstanding balance of the part requiring special servicing (e.g., field inspections for construction projects). The lender may also collect from the applicant necessary out-of-pocket expenses, including filing or recording fees, photocopying, delivery charges, collateral appraisals, environmental impact reports that are obtained in compliance with SBA policy, and other direct charges related to loan closing.<sup>60</sup> The lender is prohibited from requiring the borrower to pay any fees for goods and services, including insurance, as a condition for obtaining an SBA guaranteed loan, and from imposing on SBA loan applicants processing fees, origination fees, application fees, points, brokerage fees, bonus points, and referral or similar fees.<sup>61</sup>

The lender is also allowed to charge the borrower a late payment fee not to exceed 5% of the regular loan payment when the borrower is more than 10 days delinquent on its regularly scheduled payment. The lender may not charge a fee for full or partial prepayment of a loan.<sup>62</sup>

For loans with a maturity of 15 years or longer, the borrower must pay to the SBA a subsidy recoupment fee when the borrower voluntarily prepays 25% or more of its loan in any one year during the first three years after first disbursement. The fee is 5% of the prepayment amount during the first year, 3% in the second year, and 1% in the third year.<sup>63</sup>

Program Statistics

Loan Volume

As shown in Table 2, the total number and amount of SBA 7(a) loans approved (before and after cancellations and modifications) declined in FY2008 and FY2009, primarily due to reduced demand for small business loans during the Great Recession (2007-2009). Since then, the total number and amount of 7(a) loans approved has varied somewhat, generally increasing during good economic times and declining when economic conditions weakened.

The number and amount of 7(a) loans approved annually is higher than the number and amount of loans disbursed because some borrowers did not accept the loan for several reasons, such as <sup>59</sup> 13 C.F.R. §120.221. Effective October 1, 2020, lender fees will be limited to $3,000 for a loan up to $350,000 and no more than $5,000 for a loan over $350,000. The lender may continue to charge an applicant an additional fee if, subject to prior written SBA approval, all or part of a loan will have extraordinary servicing needs. financing was secured elsewhere, funds were no longer needed, or a change in business ownership.

Table 2 also provides the 7(a) program’s unpaid principal balance by fiscal year. Precise measurements of the small business credit market are not available. However, the SBA has estimated that the small business credit market (outstanding bank loans of $1 million or less, plus credit extended by finance companies and other sources) is roughly $1.2 trillion.<sup>64</sup> The 7(a) program’s unpaid principal balance of $95.64 billion as of March 31, 2020, was about 8.0% of that amount.

Appropriations for Loan Subsidy Costs

One of the SBA’s goals is to achieve a zero subsidy rate for its loan guaranty programs. A zero subsidy rate occurs when the SBA’s loan guaranty programs generate sufficient revenue through fee collections and recoveries of collateral on purchased (defaulted) loans to not require appropriations to issue new loan guarantees.

As indicated in Table 3, the SBA needed additional appropriations to achieve a zero subsidy rate for the 7(a) program in FY2010, FY2011-FY2013, FY2020, and FY2021. The 504/CDC loan guaranty program received additional appropriations to achieve a zero subsidy rate in FY2012-FY2015.

Notes: The Microloan program also receives an appropriation for credit subsidy, primarily for providing below market interest rates to Microloan intermediaries. The subsidies were $1.3 million in FY2007, $2.0 million in FY2008, $2.5 million in FY2009, $3.0 million in FY2010 and FY2011, $3.678 million in FY2012, $3.498 million (after sequestration) in FY2013, $4.6 million in FY2014, $2.5 million in FY2015, $3.338 million in FY2016, $4.338 million in FY2017, $3.438 million in FY2018, $4.0 million in FY2019, $5 million in FY2020, and $12 million in FY2021.

In addition, as mentioned, P.L. 116-136, the CARES Act, appropriated $17 billion ($7.1 billion was spent) and P.L. 116-260, the Economic Aid to Hard-Hit Small Businesses, Nonprofits, and Venues Act, appropriated $3.5 billion to resume monthly debt relief payments to 7(a), 504/CDC, and Microloan borrowers, capped at $9,000 per month per borrower.<sup>65</sup> Payments are dependent on the availability of funds, when the loan was disbursed, the type of loan received, and the business's industry.

P.L. 116-260 also appropriated $1.918 billion for 7(a) and 504/CDC loan credit subsidies related to temporarily increasing the 7(a) loan guarantee to 90%, temporarily increasing the SBAExpress program's maximum loan amount to $1 million, temporarily increasing the SBAExpress program's loan guarantee from 50% to 75% for loans of $350,000 and less, and waiving 7(a) and 504/CDC fees.

Administrative Expenses

In FY2019, the SBA spent $91.6 million on the 7(a) program for administrative expenses, including $56.5 million for loan making, $5.3 million for loan servicing, and $29.7 million for loan liquidation. Also, the SBA spent $25.7 million on lender oversight, including oversight of 7(a) lenders. The SBA anticipates that 7(a) program administrative expenses will be about $95.9 million in FY2020 and $100.4 million in FY2021. In addition, the SBA anticipates that it will spend about $29.6 million in FY2020 and $30.1 million in FY2021 for lender oversight of the SBA's various lending programs.<sup>66</sup>

Use of Proceeds and Borrower Satisfaction

In FY2017, borrowers used 7(a) loan proceeds to

- purchase land or make land improvements (26.62%);
- purchase a business (17.06%);
- finance working capital (15.59%);
- pay off loans, accounts payable or notes payable (13.23%);
- construct new buildings (6.06%);
- purchase equipment (5.76%);
- make leasehold improvements (3.25%);
- expand or renovate current buildings (2.39%);
- refinance existing debt (1.40%); and
- cover other expenses (8.64%).<sup>67</sup>

In 2008, the Urban Institute released the results of an SBA-commissioned study of the SBA's loan guaranty programs. As part of its analysis, the Urban Institute surveyed a random sample of

SBA loan guaranty borrowers. The survey indicated that most of the 7(a) borrowers responding to the survey rated their overall satisfaction with their 7(a) loan and loan terms as either excellent (18%) or good (50%). One out of every five 7(a) borrowers (20%) rated their overall satisfaction with their 7(a) loan and loan terms as fair, and 6% rated their overall satisfaction with their 7(a) loan and loan terms as poor (7% reported don't know or did not respond).<sup>68</sup> In addition, 90% of the survey's respondents reported that the 7(a) loan was either very important (62%) or somewhat important (28%) to their business success (2% reported somewhat unimportant, 3% reported very unimportant, and 4% reported don't know or did not respond).<sup>69</sup>

Borrower Demographics

The Urban Institute found that about 9.9% of conventional small business loans are issued to minority-owned small businesses, and about 16% of conventional small business loans are issued to women-owned businesses.<sup>70</sup> In FY2020, 27.6% of 7(a) loan approvals ($6.22 billion of $22.55 billion) were to minority-owned businesses (18.5% Asian, 5.4% Hispanic, 2.3% African-American, multi-minority group 0.8%, and 0.5% American Indian) and 12.0% ($2.93 billion of $22.55 billion) were to women-owned businesses.<sup>71</sup> From its comparative analysis of conventional small business loans and the SBA's loan guaranty programs, the Urban Institute concluded the following:

SBA's loan programs are designed to enable private lenders to make loans to creditworthy borrowers who would otherwise not be able to qualify for a loan. As a result, there should be differences in the types of borrowers and loan terms associated with SBA-guaranteed and conventional small business loans.

Our comparative analysis shows such differences. Overall, loans under the 7(a) and 504 programs were more likely to be made to minority-owned, women-owned, and start-up businesses (firms that have historically faced capital gaps) as compared to conventional small business loans. Moreover, the average amounts for loans made under the 7(a) and 504 programs to these types of firms were substantially greater than conventional small business loans to such firms. These findings suggest that the 7(a) and 504 programs are being used by lenders in a manner that is consistent with SBA's objective of making credit available to firms that face a capital opportunity gap.<sup>72</sup>

Congressional Issues

Access to Capital

Congress has always shown a great interest in the 7(a) loan program because of concerns that small businesses might be prevented from accessing sufficient capital to enable them to grow and create jobs. That interest has grown especially acute in the wake of the COVID-19 pandemic's adverse impact on the national economy.

During the 110th and 111th Congresses, several laws were enacted to increase the supply and demand for capital for both large and small businesses.<sup>73</sup> For example, in 2008, Congress adopted P.L. 110-343, the Emergency Economic Stabilization Act of 2008, which authorized the Troubled Asset Relief Program (TARP). Under TARP, the U.S. Department of the Treasury was authorized to purchase or insure up to $700 billion in troubled assets, including small business loans, from banks and other financial institutions. The law's intent was "to restore liquidity and stability to the financial system of the United States."<sup>74</sup> P.L. 111-203, the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act, reduced total TARP purchase authority from $700 billion to $475 billion. The Department of the Treasury's authority to make new financial commitments under TARP ended on October 3, 2010. The Department of the Treasury has disbursed approximately $430 billion in TARP funds, including $370 million to purchase SBA 7(a) loan guaranty program securities.<sup>75</sup>

In addition, in 2009, P.L. 111-5, the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009 (ARRA) provided an additional $730 million for SBA programs, including $375 million to temporarily reduce fees in the SBA's 7(a) and 504/CDC loan guaranty programs and increase the 7(a) program's maximum loan guaranty percentage from up to 85% of loans of $150,000 or less and up to 75% of loans exceeding $150,000 to 90% for all standard 7(a) loans. Congress subsequently provided another $265 million, and authorized the SBA to reprogram another $40 million, to extend the fee reductions and loan modification through May 31, 2010, and the Small Business Jobs Act of 2010 provided another $505 million (plus $5 million for administrative expenses) to extend the fee reductions and loan modification from September 27, 2010, through December 31, 2010.<sup>76</sup> Also, P.L. 111-322, the Continuing Appropriations and Surface Transportation Extensions

On March 16, 2009, President Obama announced that the Department of the Treasury would use TARP funds to purchase up to $15 billion of SBA-guaranteed loans to "immediately unfreeze the secondary market for SBA loans and increase the liquidity of community banks." The plan was deferred after it met resistance from lenders. Some lenders objected to TARP's requirement that participating lenders comply with executive compensation limits and issue warrants to the federal government. Smaller community banks objected to the program's paperwork requirements, such as the provision of a small-business lending plan and quarterly reports. See The White House, "Remarks by the President to Small Business Owners, Community Leaders, and Members of Congress," March 16, 2009, at <https://obamawhitehouse.archives.gov/the-press-office/remarks-president-small-business-owners-community-lenders-and-members-congress>.

<sup>76</sup> P.L. 111-118, the Department of Defense Appropriations Act, 2010, appropriated $125 million; P.L. 111-144, the Temporary Extension Act of 2010, appropriated $60 million; P.L. 111-150, To permit the use of previously appropriated funds to extend the Small Business Loan Guarantee Program, and for other purposes, authorized the SBA to reprogram $40 million; and P.L. 111-157, the Continuing Extension Act of 2010, appropriated $80 million to extend the fee reductions and loan modification through May 31, 2010.

Act, 2011, authorized the use of any funding remaining from the Small Business Jobs Act of 2010 to extend the fee subsidies and 90% maximum loan guaranty percentage through March 4, 2011, or until the available funding was exhausted.<sup>77</sup> Funding for these purposes was exhausted on January 3, 2011.

The Obama Administration argued that TARP and the additional funding for the SBA's loan guaranty programs helped to improve the small business lending environment and supported "the retention and creation of hundreds of thousands of jobs."<sup>78</sup> Critics argued that small business tax reduction, reform of financial credit market regulation, and federal fiscal restraint are the best means to assist small business economic growth and job creation.<sup>79</sup>

More recently, the SBA received $760.982 billion in supplemental funding in FY2020 ($761.980 billion including regular appropriations) and $324.975 billion in supplemental funding in FY2021 ($325.897 billion including regular appropriations) to assist small businesses adversely affected by the COVID-19 pandemic.<sup>80</sup> Most of these funds ($806.45 billion) were provided to support the Paycheck Protection Program (PPP).

As of August 8, 2020, the SBA had approved, after cancellations, 5.2 million PPP loans, totaling more than $525 billion. For comparative purposes, that loan approval amount is more than the amount the SBA has approved in all of its loan programs, including disaster loans, during the previous 29 years (from October 1, 1991, through December 31, 2019; $509.9 billion).<sup>81</sup>

Program Administration

Over the years, the SBA's Office of Inspector General (OIG) and the U.S. Government Accountability Office (GAO) have independently reviewed the SBA's administration of the SBA's loan guaranty programs. Although improvements have been noted, both agencies have reported deficiencies in the SBA's administration of its loan guaranty programs that they argue need to be addressed, including issues involving the oversight of 7(a) lenders and the lack of outcome-based performance measures.

The Senate had adopted H.R. 4213, the American Workers, State, and Business Relief Act of 2010, on March 10, 2010, by a 62-36 vote. It would have provided $560 million to extend the fee reductions and 90% loan guarantee limit through December 31, 2010. The House approved an amended version of the bill, renamed the American Jobs and Closing Tax Loopholes Act of 2010, on May 28, 2010, by a 245-171 vote. It would have provided $505 million to extend the fee reductions and 90% loan guarantee limit through December 31, 2010. ## Oversight of 7(a) Lenders

On December 1, 2000, the OIG released its FY2001 list of the most serious management challenges facing the SBA and included, for the first time, the oversight of SBA lenders.<sup>82</sup> The OIG determined that the SBA had traditionally focused on loan approval volume and loss (default) rates to evaluate overall program performance and relied on lenders to focus on risk management. As a result, the OIG concluded that the SBA “continued to guarantee loans to high-risk franchises and industries without monitoring risks, and where necessary, implementing controls to mitigate those risks.”<sup>83</sup> Since then, the OIG has determined that the SBA has made significant progress in improving its oversight of SBA lenders. For example

- The SBA established an Office of Lender Oversight (renamed the Office of Credit Risk Management in 2007), led by an Associate Administrator, which, in October 2000, drafted a strategic plan to serve as a basis for developing a Standard Operating Procedure (SOP) for lender oversight and, among other activities, initiated “steps to develop and implement a comprehensive loan monitoring system to evaluate lender performance. The system will collect data on lenders such as delinquency default rates, liquidations, loan payments, and loan originations.”<sup>84</sup>
- In 2004, the SBA’s National Guaranty Purchase Center developed a quality control plan “to review the quality of the guaranty purchase process.”<sup>85</sup>
- In 2006, the SBA issued an SOP that established procedures for on-site, risk-based lender reviews and safety and soundness examinations for 7(a) lenders and Certified Development Companies (CDCs) participating the SBA’s 504/CDC loan guaranty program.<sup>86</sup>
- In 2007, the SBA completed the centralization of all 7(a) loan processing activities and, with very limited exception, ended loan making, servicing, liquidation, and guaranty purchase activity at district offices.<sup>87</sup>
- In 2008, the SBA issued an SOP for 7(a) lender oversight which included uniform policies and procedures for the evaluation of lender performance<sup>88</sup> and the SBA’s Office of Financial Program Operations (OFPO) began designing “a

- In 2015, the SBA’s Office of Credit Risk Management (OCRM) “engaged contractor support to expand on its corrective action follow-up process. Additionally, OCRM issued its FY2015 Risk Management Oversight Plan, which included plans to conduct 170 corrective action reviews between 7(a) and 504 lenders.”<sup>96</sup>
- In 2016, OCRM reported that it conducted 147 corrective action follow-up assessments, established performance measures and risk mitigation goals for the SBA’s entire lending portfolio, and “conducted portfolio analyses of problem lenders with heavy concentrations in SBA 7(a) lending and sales on the secondary market.”<sup>97</sup>
- Since 2016, OCRM has “established performance measures and risk mitigation goals applicable to each loan program and the entire lending portfolio” and “conducted portfolio analyses of problem lenders with heavy concentrations in SBA 7(a) lending and sales on the secondary market.”<sup>98</sup>

Despite these improvements, the OIG continues to list lender oversight as one of the most serious management challenges facing the SBA because it argues that several issues that it has identified in audits have not been fully addressed.<sup>99</sup> Specifically, the OIG reports that the SBA needs to show that the portfolio risk management program is used to support risk based decisions, implement additional controls to mitigate risks, develop an effective method for tracking loan agents, and update regulations on loan agents.<sup>100</sup>

Outcome-Oriented Performance Measures

GAO has argued that the 7(a) program’s performance measures (e.g., number of loans approved, loans funded, and firms assisted across the subgroups of small businesses) provide limited information about the impact of the loans on participating small businesses:

The program’s performance measures focus on indicators that are primarily output measures—for instance, they report on the number of loans approved and funded. But none of the measures looks at how well firms do after receiving 7(a) loans, so no information is available on outcomes. As a result, the current measures do not indicate how well the agency is meeting its strategic goal of helping small businesses succeed.<sup>101</sup>

The SBA's OIG has made a similar argument concerning the SBA's Microloan program's performance measures. Because the SBA uses similar program performance measures for its Microloan and 7(a) programs, the OIG's recommendations could also be applied to the SBA's 7(a) program.

Specifically, as part of its audit of the SBA Microloan program's use of ARRA funds, the OIG found that the SBA's performance measures for the Microloan program are based on the number of microloans funded, the number of small businesses assisted, and program's loan loss rate. It argued that these "performance metrics ... do not ensure the ultimate program beneficiaries, the microloan borrowers, are truly assisted by the program" and "without appropriate metrics, SBA cannot ensure the Microloan program is meeting policy goals."<sup>102</sup> It noted that the SBA does not track the number of microloan borrowers who remain in business after receiving a microloan to measure the extent to which the loans contributed to the success of borrowers and does not determine the effect that technical training assistance may have on the success of microloan borrowers and their ability to repay loans.<sup>103</sup> It recommended that the SBA "develop additional performance metrics to measure the program's achievement in assisting microloan borrowers in establishing and maintaining successful small businesses."<sup>104</sup>

In its response to GAO's recommendation to develop additional performance measures for the 7(a) program, the SBA formed, in July 2014, an impact evaluation working group to develop a methodology for conducting impact evaluations of the agency's programs using administrative data sources residing at the SBA and in other federal agencies, such as the U.S. Census Bureau and the Bureau of Labor Statistics.<sup>105</sup> Numerous SBA program offices participated in this working group and each office developed its own program evaluation methodology or established program evaluation frameworks.<sup>106</sup>

More recently, the SBA indicated in its FY2017 congressional budget justification document that although it "continues to face barriers gathering outcome rich evaluation data with current restrictions in collecting personal identification information (PII) and business identification information (BII)" it "plans to further develop its analytical capabilities, enhance collaboration across its programs, provide evaluation-specific trainings, and broaden use of impact evaluations to support senior leaders and institutionalize the evidence-based process across programs."<sup>107</sup> To encourage evidence-based evaluations across its programs, the SBA has created an annual

Congress authorized several changes to the 7(a) program during the 111th Congress in an effort to increase the number and amount of 7(a) loans.

The Obama Administration’s Proposals

During the 111th Congress, the Obama Administration supported congressional efforts to temporarily subsidize fees for the 7(a) and 504/CDC loan guaranty programs and to increase the 7(a) program’s loan guaranty percentage from up to 85% of loans of $150,000 or less and up to 75% of loans exceeding $150,000 to 90%. Congress subsequently provided nearly $1.1 billion to temporarily subsidize fees for the 7(a) and 504/CDC loan guaranty programs and to increase the 7(a) program’s maximum loan guaranty percentage to 90% for all standard 7(a) loans.

The Obama Administration also proposed the following modifications to several SBA programs, including the 7(a) program:

- increase the maximum loan size for 7(a) loans from $2 million to $5 million;
- increase the maximum loan size for the 504/CDC program from $2 million to $5 million for regular projects and from $4 million to $5.5 million for manufacturing projects;
- increase the maximum loan size for microloans to small business concerns from $35,000 to $50,000;
- increase the maximum loan limits for lenders in their first year of participation in the Microloan program, from $750,000 to $1 million, and from $3.5 million to $5 million in the subsequent years;
- temporarily increase the cap on SBAExpress loans from $350,000 to $1 million; and
- temporarily allow in FY2010 and FY2011, with an option to extend into FY2012, the refinancing of loans for owner-occupied commercial real estate that are within one year of maturity under the SBA’s 504/CDC program.<sup>110</sup>

Arguments for Increasing the SBA's Maximum Loan Limits

The Obama Administration argued that increasing the maximum loan limits for the 7(a), 504/CDC, Microloan, and SBAExpress programs would allow the SBA to “support larger projects,” which would “allow the SBA to help America’s small businesses drive long-term economic growth and the creation of jobs in communities across the country.”<sup>111</sup> The Administration also argued that increasing the maximum loan limits for these programs would be “budget neutral” over the long run and “help improve the availability of smaller loans.”<sup>112</sup>

Arguments Against Increasing the SBA's Maximum Loan Limits

Critics of the Obama Administration’s proposals to increase the SBA’s maximum loan limits argued that higher loan limits might increase the risk of defaults, resulting in higher guaranty fees or the need to provide the SBA additional funding, especially for the SBAExpress program, which has experienced somewhat higher default rates than other SBA loan guaranty programs.<sup>113</sup> Others advocated a more modest increase in the maximum loan limits to ensure that the 7(a) program “remains focused on startup and early-stage small firms, businesses that have historically encountered the greatest difficulties in accessing credit,” and “avoids making small borrowers carry a disproportionate share of the risk associated with larger loans.”<sup>114</sup>

Others argued that creating a small business direct lending program within the SBA would reduce paperwork requirements and be more efficient in providing small businesses access to capital than modifying existing SBA programs that rely on private lenders to determine if they will issue the loans.<sup>115</sup> Also, as mentioned, others argued that providing additional resources to the SBA or modifying the SBA’s loan programs as a means to augment small business access to capital is ill-advised. In their view, the SBA has limited impact on small businesses’ access to capital. They argued that the best means to assist small business economic growth and job creation is to focus on small business tax reduction, reform of financial credit market regulation, and federal fiscal restraint.<sup>116</sup>

P.L. 111-5, the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009 (ARRA)

As mentioned, in 2009, ARRA provided an additional $730 million for SBA programs, including $375 million to temporarily reduce fees in the SBA’s 7(a) and 504/CDC loan guaranty programs

P.L. 111-240, the Small Business Jobs Act of 2010

P.L. 111-240 provided $505 million (plus $5 million for administrative expenses) to extend the 7(a) program's 90% maximum loan guaranty percentage and 7(a) and 504/CDC loan guaranty programs' fee subsidies through December 31, 2010 (later extended to March 4, 2011), or until available funding was exhausted (which occurred on January 3, 2011). The act also made the following changes to the SBA's programs:

- increased the maximum loan size for 7(a) loans from $2 million to $5 million;
- temporarily increased for one year (through September 27, 2011) the cap on SBAExpress loans from $350,000 to $1 million;
- increased the maximum loan size for the 504/CDC loans from $1.5 million to $5 million for regular projects, from $2 million to $5 million for projects meeting one of the program's specified public policy goals, and from $4 million to $5.5 million for manufacturers;
- increased the maximum loan size for the Microloan program from $35,000 to $50,000;
- authorized the SBA to establish an alternative size standard for the 7(a) and 504/CDC programs that uses maximum tangible net worth and average net income as an alternative to the use of industry standards and established an interim size standard of a maximum tangible net worth of not more than $15 million and an average net income after federal taxes (excluding any carryover losses) for the preceding two fiscal years of not more than $5 million; and
- allowed 504/CDC loans to be used to refinance up to $7.5 billion in short-term commercial real estate debt each fiscal year for two years after enactment (through September 27, 2012) into long-term fixed rate loans.<sup>118</sup>

The act also authorized the Secretary of the Treasury to establish a $30 billion Small Business Lending Fund (SBLF) to encourage community banks to provide small business loans ($4 billion was issued), a $1.5 billion State Small Business Credit Initiative to provide funding to participating states with small business capital access programs, and about $12 billion in tax relief for small businesses.<sup>119</sup> It also contained revenue raising provisions to offset the act's cost and authorized a number of changes to other SBA loan and contracting programs.

Congress did not approve any changes to the 7(a) program during the 112th Congress. However, several bills were introduced during the 112th Congress that would have changed the program.

S. 1828, a bill to increase small business lending, and for other purposes, was introduced on November 8, 2011, and referred to the Senate Committee on Small Business and Entrepreneurship. The bill would have reinstated for a year following the date of its enactment the temporary fee subsidies for the 7(a) and 504/CDC loan guaranty programs and the 90% loan guaranty for standard 7(a) loans, which were originally authorized by ARRA and later extended by several laws, including the Small Business Jobs Act of 2010.

H.R. 2936, the Small Business Administration Express Loan Extension Act of 2011, introduced on September 15, 2011, and referred to the House Committee on Small Business, would have extended a one-year increase in the maximum loan amount for the SBAExpress program from $350,000 to $1 million for an additional year. The temporary increase in that program's maximum loan amount was authorized by P.L. 111-240, the Small Business Jobs Act of 2010, and expired on September 27, 2011 (see Appendix A).

S. 532, the Patriot Express Authorization Act of 2011, introduced on March 9, 2011, and referred to the Senate Committee on Small Business and Entrepreneurship, would have provided statutory authorization for the Patriot Express Pilot Program. This program was subsequently discontinued by the SBA on December 31, 2013. The bill would have increased the program's maximum loan amount from $500,000 to $1 million, and it would have increased the guaranty percentages from up to 85% of loans of $150,000 or less and up to 75% of loans exceeding $150,000 to up to 85% of loans of $500,000 or less and up to 80% of loans exceeding $500,000.

H.R. 2451, the Strengthening Entrepreneurs' Economic Development Act of 2013, was introduced on June 20, 2013, and referred to the House Committee on Small Business. It would have authorized the SBA to make direct loans of up to $150,000 to businesses with fewer than 20 employees. It would have also required the SBA to assess, collect, and retain a fee with respect to the outstanding balance of the deferred participation share of each 7(a) loan in excess of $2 million that is no more than is necessary to reduce to zero the SBA's cost of making the loan.

H.R. 2461, the SBA Loan Paperwork Reduction Act of 2013, was introduced on June 20, 2013, and referred to the House Committee on Small Business. It would have provided statutory authorization for the Small Loan Advantage (SLA) pilot program. The SBA started that program on February 15, 2011. It provided a streamlined application process for 7(a) loans of up to $350,000 if the loan received an acceptable credit score from the SBA prior to the loan being submitted for processing. The SBA adopted the SLA application process as the model for processing all non-express 7(a) loans of $350,000 or less, effective January 1, 2014.

The Obama Administration waived the up-front, one time loan guaranty fee and ongoing servicing fee for 7(a) loans of $150,000 or less approved in FY2014 (and later extended the fee waiver in FY2015 and FY2016). H.R. 2462, the Small Business Opportunity Acceleration Act of 2013, introduced on June 20, 2013, and referred to the House Committee on Small Business, would have made the fee waiver permanent.

Also, the Obama Administration waived the up-front, one-time loan guaranty fee for veteran loans under the SBAExpress program (up to $350,000) from January 1, 2014, through the end of FY2015 (called the Veterans Advantage Program). S. 2143, the Veterans Entrepreneurship Act, would have authorized this fee waiver and made it permanent. Also, P.L. 113-235 provided statutory authorization to waive the 7(a) SBAExpress program's guarantee fee for veterans (and their spouse) in FY2015.

Legislative Activity During the 114th Congress

P.L. 114-38, the Veterans Entrepreneurship Act of 2015, authorized and made permanent the waiver of the up-front, one-time loan guaranty fee for veterans (and their spouse) in the SBAExpress program beginning on or after October 1, 2015, except during any upcoming fiscal year for which the President's budget, submitted to Congress, includes a cost for the 7(a) program, in its entirety, that is above zero.<sup>120</sup> The act also increased the 7(a) program's authorization limit from $18.75 billion in FY2015 to $23.5 billion.<sup>121</sup>

On June 25, 2015, the SBA informed Congress that the 7(a) program "is on track to hit its authorization ceiling of $18.75 billion well before the end of FY2015."<sup>122</sup> The SBA indicated that "our activity and trend analysis reveal a strong uptick that, if sustained, would exceed our lending authority ceiling by late August."<sup>123</sup> If that were to occur, and in the absence of statutory authority to do otherwise, the SBA reported that it would have to suspend 7(a) loan making for the remainder of the fiscal year. The SBA requested an increase in the 7(a) loan program's authorization limit to $22.5 billion in FY2015.<sup>124</sup>

On July 23, 2015, citing "unprecedented demand," the SBA suspended 7(a) program lending. The SBA indicated that it would continue to process loan applications "up to the point of approval" and then place approved loans "into a queue awaiting the availability of program authority."<sup>125</sup> Loans would be released "once program authority became available due to Congressional action or as a result of cancellations of loans previously approved this fiscal year."<sup>126</sup> Applications would then “be funded in the order they were approved by SBA, with the exception that requests for increases to previously approved loans will be funded before applications for new loans.”<sup>127</sup>

<sup>121</sup> Several bills were introduced during the 114th Congress to increase the 7(a) program's authorization limit (on disbursements). For example, S. 1001, the Small Business Lending Reauthorization Act of 2015, would increase the 7(a) program's authorization limit from $18.75 billion in FY2015 to $20.5 billion in FY2015 and $23.5 billion in FY2016. H.R. 3132, to increase the amount of funding available for FY2015 for certain general business loans authorized under the Small Business Act, would increase the 7(a) program's authorization limit from $18.75 billion in FY2015 to $23.5 billion.

The SBA resumed 7(a) lending on July 28, 2015, following P.L. 114-38’s enactment.<sup>128</sup> In addition to increasing the 7(a) program’s authorization limit for FY2015, the act added requirements designed to ensure that SBA loans do not displace private sector loans (e.g., the SBA Administrator may not guarantee a 7(a) loan if the lender determines that the borrower is unable to obtain credit elsewhere solely because the liquidity of the lender depends upon the guaranteed portion of the loan being sold on the secondary market, or if the sole purpose for requesting the guarantee is to allow the lender to exceed the lender’s legal lending limit), and requires the SBA to report, on a quarterly basis, specified 7(a) program statistics to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations and Small Business. These required statistics are designed to inform the committees of the SBA’s pace of 7(a) lending, provide estimates concerning the date on which the program’s authorization limit may be reached, and present information concerning early defaults and actions taken by the SBA to combat early defaults.

P.L. 114-113 increased the 7(a) program’s authorization limit from $23.5 billion in FY2015 to $26.5 billion for FY2016. In addition, P.L. 114-223, the Continuing Appropriations and Military Construction, Veterans Affairs, and Related Agencies Appropriations Act, 2017, authorized the SBA to use funds from its business loan program account “to accommodate increased demand for commitments for [7(a)] general business loans” for the duration of the continuing resolution (initially December 9, 2016, later extended by P.L. 114-254, the Further Continuing and Security Assistance Appropriations Act, 2017, to April 28, 2017).

In a related development, S. 2496, the Help Small Businesses Access Affordable Credit Act, introduced on February 2, 2016, would have authorized the SBA Administrator, with prior approval of the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations, to make loans in an amount equal to not more than 110% of the 7(a) program’s authorization limit if the demand for 7(a) loans should exceed that limit. The Obama Administration also requested authorization to allow the SBA Administrator to continue to issue loans should the demand for 7(a) loans exceed the program’s authorization limit.<sup>129</sup>

Also, S. 2992, the Small Business Lending Oversight Act of 2016, would have required the Director of the SBA’s Office of Credit Risk Management (OCRM) to impose penalties on 7(a) lenders who “knowingly and repeatedly” undertake specified activities;<sup>130</sup> required the SBA to

For loans and loan guarantees that do not require budget authority and the program level has been established in this act, the Administrator of the Small Business Administration may increase the program level for such loans and loan guarantees by not more than 15%: Provided, That prior to the Administrator implementing such an increase, the Administrator notifies, in writing, the Committees on Appropriations and Small Business of both houses of Congress at least 15 days in advance.

<sup>130</sup> The penalties would have included (1) a warning and an order to comply; (2) if the lender is a participant in the Preferred Lenders Program, suspension from participating in that program for not less than 90 days and not more than 1 year; (3) prohibiting the lender from issuing 7(a) loans; (4) a civil monetary penalty of not less than $5,000 and not greater than $250,000; (5) prohibiting a lender from selling in the secondary market, under section 5(f), the guaranteed portion of any loan made by the lender; and (6) any other penalty that the Director determines to be appropriate after considering the severity and the frequency of the violations.

Legislation was also introduced (S. 2125, the Small Business Lending and Economic Inequality Reduction Act of 2015) to provide permanent, statutory authorization for the Community Advantage Pilot program (see Appendix A). The SBA announced on December 28, 2015, that it was extending the Community Advantage Pilot program through March 31, 2020 (it had been set to expire on March 15, 2017), and later extended it through September 30, 2022.<sup>132</sup>

Recognizing that 7(a) loan approvals during the first half of FY2017 were about 9% higher than during the first half of FY2016, Congress included a provision in P.L. 115-31, the Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2017, which increased the 7(a) program's authorization limit to $27.5 billion in FY2017 from $26.5 billion in FY2016. Congress also approved legislation (P.L. 115-141, the Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2018) that increased the 7(a) program's authorization limit to $29.0 billion in FY2018.

In addition, P.L. 115-189, the Small Business 7(a) Lending Oversight Reform Act of 2018, among other provisions, codified the SBA's Office of Credit Risk Management; required that office to annually undertake and report the findings of a risk analysis of the 7(a) program's loan portfolio; created a lender oversight committee within the SBA; authorized the Director of the Office of Credit Risk Management to undertake informal and formal enforcement actions against 7(a) lenders under specified conditions; redefined the credit elsewhere requirement;<sup>133</sup> and authorized this Act or regulations promulgated under this Act, including a failure to document that a loan is eligible for financing under section 7(a) because the applicant is unable to obtain credit elsewhere; (B) sells the guaranteed portion of a loan under section 5(f) when the proceeds of the loan have not been fully disbursed in accordance with program requirements; (C) imposes on an applicant for a loan under section 7(a) a fee that the Administration has not specifically authorized; or (D) re-amortizes a loan solely to make the loan appear current.”

<sup>131</sup> Under the bill, the SBA would have been authorized to assess, collect, and retain a fee, not greater than 0.03% per year of the outstanding balance of the deferred participation share of each loan approved under this subsection. The proceeds were to be used “solely to support the operations of the Office of Credit Risk Management.” Also, the SBA would have been authorized to collect a fee for any loan guarantee sold into the secondary market under subsection (f) “in an amount equal to 50% of the portion of the sale price that exceeds 108% of the outstanding principal amount of the portion of the loan guaranteed by the Administration.”

<sup>133</sup> Under the act, “The term ‘credit elsewhere’ means (1) for the purposes of this Act (except as used in section 7(b)), the availability of credit on reasonable terms and conditions to the individual loan applicant from non-Federal, non-State, or non-local government sources, considering factors associated with conventional lending practices, including— (A) the business industry in which the loan applicant operates; (B) whether the loan applicant is an enterprise that has been in operation for a period of not more than 2 years; (C) the adequacy of the collateral available to secure the requested loan; (D) the loan term necessary to reasonably assure the ability of the loan applicant to repay the debt from the actual or projected cash flow of the business; and (E) any other factor relating to the particular credit application, as documented in detail by the lender, that cannot be overcome except through obtaining a Federal loan guarantee under prudent lending standards; and (2) for the purposes of section 7(b), the availability of credit on reasonable terms and the SBA Administrator to increase the amount of 7(a) loans not more than once during any fiscal year to not more than 115% of the 7(a) program's authorization limit. The SBA is required to provide at least 30 days' notice of its intent to exceed the 7(a) loan program's authorization limit to the House and Senate Committees on Small Business and the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations' Subcommittees on Financial Services and General Government and may exercise this option only once per fiscal year.

Also, P.L. 115-232, the John S. McCain National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2019, included provisions to make 7(a) loans more accessible to employee-owned small businesses (ESOPs) and cooperatives.<sup>134</sup> The act authorizes the SBA to make "back-to-back" loans to ESOPs to better align with industry practices (the loan proceeds must only be used to make a loan to a qualified employee trust);<sup>135</sup> clarifies that 7(a) loans to ESOPs may be made under the Preferred Lenders Program; allows the seller to remain involved as an officer, director, or key employee when the ESOP or cooperative has acquired 100% ownership of the small business;<sup>136</sup> and authorizes the SBA to finance transition costs to employee ownership and waive any mandatory equity injection by the ESOP or cooperative to help finance the change of ownership. The act also directs the SBA to create outreach programs with Small Business Investment Companies and Microloan intermediaries to make their lending programs more accessible to all eligible ESOPs and cooperatives, an interagency working group to promote lending to ESOPs and cooperatives, and a Small Business Employee Ownership and Cooperatives Promotion Program, administered by Small Business Development Centers, to offer technical assistance and training to small businesses on the transition to employee ownership through cooperatives and ESOPs.

Congress did not focus much attention on the Trump Administration's proposal in its FY2019 budget request to "introduce counter-cyclical policies in SBA's business guaranty loan programs and update certain fees structures to offset $155 million in business loan administration."<sup>137</sup> As mentioned earlier, the proposal included raising $93 million in additional revenue by

- allowing the SBA to set the 7(a) program's annual servicing fee at rates below zero credit subsidy;
- increasing the 7(a) loan program's FY2019 annual servicing fee's cap from 0.55% to 0.625%; and conditions from non-Federal sources taking into consideration the prevailing rates and terms in the community in or near where the applicant business concern transacts business, or the applicant homeowner resides, for similar purposes and periods of time; and (2) in section 7(a)(1)(A)(i) (15 U.S.C. 636(a)(1)(A)(i)), by inserting 'The Administrator has the authority to direct, and conduct oversight for, the methods by which lenders determine whether a borrower is able to obtain credit elsewhere' before 'No financial assistance.'"

<sup>135</sup> Previously, "an SBA ESOP loan [could] ... only be made to the ESOP plan within the company, while commercial banks typically lend to the company which then makes an internal loan to the employee trust to purchase ownership. This practice is known as a "back-to-back" loan and allows the company to have some flexibility in how the ESOP operates, including how quickly employees get their shares so that both current and future employees will get meaningful stock awards." See "Main Street Employee Ownership Act," provided by the office of Senator Kirsten Gillibrand, March 14, 2018.

- increasing the FY2019 upfront loan guarantee fee on 7(a) loans over $1 million by 0.25%.

The Administration also requested that the 7(a) loan program's authorization limit be increased to $30 million in FY2019; that the SBA be allowed to further increase the 7(a) loan program's authorization amount in FY2019 by 15% under specified circumstances "to better equip the SBA to meet peaks in demand while continuing to operate at zero subsidies;" that the SBA be allowed to impose an annual fee, not to exceed 0.05% per year, of the outstanding balance on 7(a) secondary market trust certificates to help offset administrative costs; and that the SBAExpress program's loan limit be increased from $350,000 to $1 million.<sup>138</sup>

Legislative Activity During the 116th Congress

Both the House Committee on Small Business and the Senate Committee on Small Business and Entrepreneurship held numerous hearings on SBA programs and activities during the 116th Congress. For example, during the first session of the 116th Congress, the Senate Committee held a series of hearings related to the reauthorization of the Small Business Act, including hearings focusing on the SBA's access to capital programs. Among the many topics discussed were the 7(a) program's authorization level; providing statutory authorization for the 7(a) Community Advantage Program; increasing the SBAExpress program's lending limit, fee waivers, and credit subsidy determinations; and providing assistance for small manufacturing firms.

Both committees also reported bills for floor action and several bills were passed by the House, including bills on cybersecurity, SBA disaster assistance, small business investment companies, small business contracting, the Small Business Innovation Research and Small Business Technology Transfer programs, and small business size standards. None of these engrossed bills would directly affect the 7(a) program.

The following laws, enacted during the first session of the 116th Congress, affected the 7(a) program:

- P.L. 116-6, the Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2019, provided the SBA $715.370 million for FY2019 and, among other provisions, increased the 7(a) program's authorization limit to $30 billion.
- Following the enactment of two continuing appropriations acts (P.L. 116-59, the Continuing Appropriations Act, 2020, and P.L. 116-69, the Further Continuing Appropriations Act, 2020), P.L. 116-93, the Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2020, provided the SBA $998.463 million in appropriations for FY2020, including $99 million for 7(a) loan guaranty credit subsidies.<sup>139</sup> The act also continued the 7(a) program's authorization limit at $30 billion.

The House Committee on Small Business and the Senate Committee on Small Business and Entrepreneurship focused much of its attention during the second session of the 116th Congress on legislation designed to assist small businesses adversely affected by the COVID-19 pandemic.

The following laws, enacted during the second session of the 116th Congress, affected the 7(a) program:

P.L. 116-136, the CARES Act, among other provisions, increased the 7(a) loan authorization limit (including the PPP) from $30 billion to $349 billion and appropriated $17 billion for six-month payment relief for existing 7(a), 504/CDC, or Microloan borrowers. Loans made up until six months after enactment (until September 27, 2020) also receive six months of loan payments. The act also temporarily increased the SBAExpress loan limit from $350,000 to $1 million (reverts to $350,000 on January 1, 2021) and permanently eliminated the zero subsidy requirement to waive SBAExpress loan fees for veterans.

- P.L. 116-139, the Paycheck Protection Program and Health Care Enhancement Act, among other provisions, increased the 7(a) loan authorization limit (including the PPP) from $349 billion to $659 billion and appropriated an additional $2.1 billion for the SBA's salaries and expenses account (to remain available until September 30, 2021).
- P.L. 116-147, to extend the authority for commitments for the paycheck protection program, among other provisions, provided separate authorization limits of $659 billion for PPP and $30 billion for 7(a) loan commitments.

P.L. 116-260, the Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2021, appropriated $921.733 million for the SBA for FY2021, including $15 million for 7(a) loan guaranty credit subsidies, and continued the 7(a) loan authorization limit at $30 billion. In addition, the Economic Aid to Hard-Hit Small Businesses, Nonprofits, and Venues Act (Division N, Title III of the Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2021), among other provisions, appropriated an additional $324.975 billion for the SBA (for a total of $325.897 billion), authorized an additional $75 billion for 7(a) loan commitments (for a total of $105 billion), and appropriated $3.5 billion to resume monthly payment relief for 7(a), 504/CDC, and Microloan borrowers, capped at $9,000 per month per borrower. Payments are dependent on the availability of funds, when the loan was disbursed, the type of loan received, and the business's industry.<sup>140</sup> The act also extended the temporary increase in the SBAExpress loan limit from $350,000 to $1 million (reverting to $500,000 on October 1, 2021), increased the SBAExpress guaranty rate for loans of $350,000 or less from 50% to 75% in FY2021, waived the SBA's fees for the 7(a) and 504/CDC loan guarantee programs in FY2021, and increased the 7(a) program's guaranty rate from 85% for loans of $150,000 or less and 75% for loans greater than $150,000 (up to a maximum guaranty of $3.75 million—75% of $5 million) to 90% in FY2021.

Concluding Observations

The small business relief legislation enacted during the 116th Congress included several provisions that were enacted during the 111th Congress to address the Great Recession, such as fee waivers, increased loan limits, and increased loan guarantee percentages. However, the legislation enacted during the 116th Congress is fundamentally different from the legislation

<sup>140</sup> For example, the SBA will pay at least three additional monthly payments on loans that were in repayment before March 27, 2020, starting with the next payment due on or after February 1, 2021. After the first three monthly payments are provided, businesses with an SBA Community Advantage loan, Microloan, or operating in specified economically hard-hit industries will receive an additional five monthly payments. Also, loans approved from February 1, 2021, through September 30, 2021, will receive six monthly payments beginning with the first payment due.

enacted during the 111th Congress. First, it is much larger in scale ($1.086 trillion in supplemental appropriations) than the legislation enacted during the 111th Congress ($1.693 billion in supplemental appropriations). Second, expectations about repayment are much different, as the small business relief legislation enacted during the 116th Congress includes PPP loan forgiveness and monthly debt relief payments for 7(a), 504/CDC, and Microloan borrowers. Third, the legislation enacted during the 116th greatly expanded program eligibility, including, for the first time, eligibility for specific types of nonprofit organizations.

In terms of recent program changes, efforts to increase the 7(a) program's loan limit, provide fee subsidies, increase the maximum loan guaranty percentage, and expand 7(a) eligibility criteria were (and are) designed to create and retain jobs by increasing the ability of 7(a) borrowers to access credit at affordable rates.

Initially, the focus was on providing relief as quickly as possible to prevent small business failures and job loss, processing PPP loan and forgiveness applications as expeditiously as possible, and ensuring that underserved populations were able to access the relief. In the coming months, congressional oversight is likely to focus increased attention on the SBA's administration of these programs, especially the SBA's efforts to deter fraud, and the impact these programs have on small business survival and job creation and retention.

Among the lessons learned from the 111th Congress are the potential benefits that can be derived from providing additional funding for the SBA's Office of Inspector General (OIG) and the Government Accountability Office (GAO). GAO and the SBA's OIG can provide Congress information that could prove useful as Congress engages in congressional oversight of the SBA's administration of these programs, provide an early warning if unforeseen administrative problems should arise, and, through investigations and audits, serve as a deterrent to fraud.

Requiring the SBA to report regularly on its implementation of these programs could also promote transparency and assist Congress in performing its oversight responsibilities. In addition, requiring output and outcome performance measures and requiring the SBA to report this information directly to both Congress and the public by posting that information on the SBA's website could enhance both congressional oversight and public confidence in the SBA's efforts to assist small businesses.

Appendix A. 7(a) Specialized Programs

The 7(a) program has several specialized programs that offer streamlined and expedited loan procedures for particular groups of borrowers, including the SBAExpress and Community Advantage programs. Lenders must be approved by the SBA for participation in these programs.

SBAExpress Program

The SBAExpress program was established as a pilot program by the SBA on February 27, 1995, and made permanent through legislation, subject to reauthorization, in 2004 (P.L. 108-447, the Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2005).<sup>141</sup> The program is designed to increase the availability of credit to small businesses by permitting lenders to use their existing documentation and procedures in return for receiving a reduced SBA guaranty on loans.<sup>142</sup> It provides a 50% loan guaranty on loan amounts up to $350,000.

As mentioned, the CARES Act temporarily increased the SBAExpress loan limit from $350,000 to $1 million (reverting to $350,000 on January 1, 2021). P.L. 116-260, the Economic Aid to Hard-Hit Small Businesses, Nonprofits, and Venues Act (Division N, Title III of the Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2021), among other provisions, extended the temporary increase in the SBAExpress loan limit from $350,000 to $1 million (reverting to $500,000 on October 1, 2021) and increases the SBAExpress guaranty rate for loans of $350,000 or less from 50% to 75% in FY2021.

As shown in Table A-1, the SBA approved 18,092 SBAExpress loans (41.8% of total 7(a) program loan approvals), totaling $1.67 billion (7.4% of total 7(a) program amount approvals) in FY2020. The program's higher loan amount in FY2011 was due, at least in part, to a provision in P.L. 111-240, the Small Business Jobs Act of 2010, which temporarily increased the SBAExpress program's loan limit to $1 million for one year following enactment (through September 27, 2011).

During the 112th Congress, H.R. 2936, the Small Business Administration Express Loan Extension Act of 2011, would have extended the SBAExpress program’s higher loan limit for an additional year (through September 27, 2012). Also, as mentioned previously, the Trump Administration has requested that the SBAExpress loan limit be increased to $1 million.

SBAExpress loan proceeds can be used for the same purposes as those of the 7(a) program (expansion, renovation, new construction, the purchase of land or buildings, the purchase of equipment, fixtures, and lease-hold improvements, working capital, to refinance debt for compelling reasons, seasonal line of credit, and inventory); except that participant debt restructure cannot exceed 50% of the project and may be used for revolving credit. The program’s loan terms are the same as those of the 7(a) program (the loan maturity for working capital, machinery, and equipment (not to exceed the life of the equipment) is typically 5 years to 10 years; and the loan maturity for real estate is up to 25 years, except that the term for a revolving line of credit cannot exceed 7 years.

The SBAExpress loan program’s maximum allowable fixed interest rates and fees are the same as those for regular 7(a) loans.<sup>143</sup> SBAExpress lenders may charge borrowers somewhat higher variable interest rates than those allowed for regular 7(a) loans.<sup>144</sup>

To account for the program’s lower guaranty rate of 50%, lenders are allowed to perform their own loan analysis and procedures and receive SBA approval with a targeted 36-hour maximum turnaround time.<sup>145</sup> Also, collateral is not required for loans of $25,000 or less. Lenders are allowed to use their own established collateral policy for loans over $25,000.

As mentioned earlier, the SBA waived the up-front, one-time loan guaranty fee for 7(a) loans of $125,000 or less approved in FY2018. The SBA also waived 50% of the up-front, one-time loan guaranty fee on all non-SBAExpress 7(a) loans to veterans of $125,001 to $350,000 in FY2018.

In addition, P.L. 114-38, the Veterans Entrepreneurship Act of 2015, provided statutory authorization and made permanent the veteran’s fee waiver in the SBAExpress program, except during any upcoming fiscal year for which the President’s budget, submitted to Congress, <sup>143</sup> SBA, “Express Loan Programs; Affiliation Standards,” 85 Federal Register 7622-7633, February 10, 2020.

<sup>144</sup> SBAExpress lenders may charge up to 4.5% over the prime rate on loans over $50,000 and up to 6.5% over the prime rate for loans of $50,000 or less, regardless of the maturity of the loan. See SBA, “Express Loan Programs; Affiliation Standards,” 85 Federal Register 7625, February 10, 2020.

The maximum interest rates allowed for 7(a) variable rate loans with a maturity less than seven years are the base rate (choice of prime, LIBOR, or SBA optional peg rate) plus 4.25% for loans less than $25,000; the base rate plus 3.25% for loans of $25,000-$50,000; and the base rate plus 2.25% for loans over $50,000. The maximum interest rates allowed for 7(a) variable rate loans with a maturity of seven years or longer are the base rate plus 4.75% for loans less than $25,000; the base rate plus 3.75% for loans of $25,000-$50,000; and the base rate plus 2.75% for loans over $50,000. See 13 C.F.R. §120.214 and 13 C.F.R. §120.215.

includes a cost for the 7(a) program, in its entirety, which is above zero. The SBA waived this fee in FY2016-FY2019. As mentioned, the CARES Act permanently eliminated the zero subsidy requirement.

The SBA indicated that its fee waivers for veterans are part “of SBA’s broader efforts to make sure that veterans have the tools they need to start and grow a business.”<sup>146</sup>

In a related development, the SBA discontinued the Patriot Express Pilot Program on December 31, 2013. It provided loans of up to $500,000 (with a guaranty of up to 85% of loans of $150,000 or less and up to 75% of loans exceeding $150,000) to veterans and their spouses.<sup>147</sup> It had been in operation since 2007, and, like the SBAExpress program, featured streamlined documentation requirements and expedited loan processing. Over its history, the Patriot Express Pilot Program disbursed 9,414 loans amounting to more than $791 million.<sup>148</sup>

Community Advantage 7(a) Loan Initiative

The SBA’s Community Advantage (CA) 7(a) loan initiative became operational on February 15, 2011.<sup>149</sup> Originally announced as a three-year pilot program (through March 15, 2014), it subsequently was extended through March 15, 2017; March 31, 2020; and September 30, 2022.<sup>150</sup> As of September 12, 2018, there were 113 approved CA lenders, 99 of which were actively making and servicing CA loans.<sup>151</sup>

The CA loan initiative is designed to meet the credit, management, and technical assistance needs of small businesses located in underserved low- and moderate-income communities. It, along with the now-discontinued Small Loan Advantage program,<sup>152</sup> replaced the Community Express Pilot Program, which also was designed to increase lending to underserved communities.<sup>153</sup>

<sup>152</sup> The SBA’s Small Loan Advantage (SLA) program also became operational on February 15, 2011. It provided a streamlined application process for 7(a) loans of up to $350,000 (initially $250,000) if the loan received an acceptable credit score from the SBA prior to the loan being submitted for processing. The program provided the same loan guaranty rate as that of the 7(a) program on loan amounts up to $350,000 (85% for loans up to $150,000 and 75% for those greater than $150,000) and loan proceeds could be used for the same purposes as those of the 7(a) program. The borrower’s interest rate was negotiable with the lender, subject to the same maximum rate limitations as those of the 7(a) program. Initially, the SLA program was restricted to PLP lenders. The program was expanded to all SBA lenders on June 1, 2012. The SBA adopted the SLA application process as the model for processing all non-express 7(a) loans of $350,000 or less, effective January 1, 2014.

<sup>153</sup> U.S. Congress, House Committee on Small Business, Small Business Financing and Investment Act Of 2009, report

The CA loan initiative provides the same loan terms, guaranty fees, and guaranty as that of the 7(a) program on loan amounts up to $250,000 (85% for loans up to $150,000 and 75% for those greater than $150,000). Loan proceeds can be used for the same purposes as those of the 7(a) program.<sup>154</sup> The loan's maximum interest rate is prime, plus 6%.<sup>155</sup>

The CA initiative is designed to increase access to capital for small businesses located in underserved communities by allowing non-traditional, mission-oriented lenders that are focused on economic development to participate in the 7(a) program; and by providing management and technical assistance to small businesses located in underserved communities on an as needed basis.<sup>156</sup> These mission-focused financial institutions include:

- nonfederally regulated Community Development Financial Institutions certified by the U.S. Department of the Treasury,
- SBA's Certified Development Companies,
- SBA's nonprofit Microloan program intermediaries, and, added in December 2015,
- SBA's Intermediary Lending Pilot Program intermediaries.<sup>157</sup>

CA lenders are required to maintain at least 60% of their SBA loan portfolio in underserved markets, including loans to small businesses in, or that have more than 50% of their full-time workforce residing in, low-to-moderate income (LMI) communities; Empowerment Zones and Enterprise Communities; HUBZones; start-ups (firms in business less than two years); businesses eligible for the SBA's Veterans Advantage program; Promise Zones (added in December 2015); and Opportunity Zones and Rural Areas (added in October 2018).<sup>158</sup>

The SBA placed a moratorium, effective October 1, 2018, on accepting new CA lender applications, primarily as a means to mitigate the risk of future loan defaults.<sup>159</sup> The SBA also

The SBA indicated that the Community Express Pilot Program, which was created in May 1999 and ended on April 30, 2011, provided loans "to new businesses, minority businesses and other underserved sectors" but with "significantly higher default rates (almost 40% of loans defaulted in certain cohorts) compared with other similarly sized 7(a) loans." <sup>159</sup> The SBA indicated that "Given the increased risk of CA loans as compared to other 7(a) loans, the need for more resource-intensive oversight of CA Lenders, and the fact that the CA Pilot Program already includes a sufficient number of geographically dispersed CA Lenders, SBA has decided to place a moratorium on acceptance of new CA Lender applications. Effective October 1, 2018, SBA will no longer accept CA Lender Applications (SBA Form

- increased the wait time for CA lenders ineligible for delegated lender status at the time of approval as a CA lender from 6 months to 12 months and increased the number of CA loans that must be initially dispersed before a CA lender may process applications under delegated authority from five to seven loans;<sup>161</sup>
- increased the loan loss reserve requirement for CA loans sold in the secondary market from 3% to 5% of the outstanding amount of the guaranteed portion of each loan;<sup>162</sup>
- modified requirements related to the refinancing of debts with a CA loan;<sup>163</sup>
- limited fees that can be charged by a CA lender for assistance in obtaining a CA loan to no more than $2,500, with the exception of necessary out-of-pocket costs such as filing or recording fees;<sup>164</sup> and
- as mentioned previously, added Opportunity Zones and Rural Areas to the list of economically distressed communities that are eligible for a CA loan.<sup>165</sup>

On March 2, 2020, the SBA announced in the Federal Register that it would accept new applications from lenders interested in participating in the Community Advantage program to replace lenders that voluntarily withdraw from the program, are not renewed, or are otherwise removed from the program.<sup>166</sup> The SBA also modified requirements related to refinancing non-SBA guaranteed, same institution debt, and increased the number of Community Advantage loans necessary for a lender to be provided delegated authority from 7 to 10.<sup>167</sup>

On July 15, 2020, the SBA announced that it was creating a temporary Community Advantage Recovery Loan program to assist small businesses located in underserved markets that have experienced economic hardship due to the COVID-19 pandemic. All Community Advantage Recovery Loans had to be approved by September 27, 2020, be fully disbursed by October 1, 2020, and have at least a five-year loan term. All other Community Advantage loan terms and conditions apply, other than lenders are authorized to charge an “extraordinary servicing fee” of

Appendix B. Key Provisions in the CARES Act (P.L. 116-136)

- Established a $349 billion Paycheck Protection Program (PPP) to provide forgivable “covered loans” through June 30, 2020, with a 100% SBA loan guarantee, a maximum term of 10 years, and an interest rate not to exceed 4% to assist small businesses and other specified organizations adversely affected by COVID-19. The SBA announced that the loans will have a two-year term at a 1.0% interest rate. The PPP’s authorization level was increased to $659 billion by P.L. 116-139, the Paycheck Protection Program and Health Care Enhancement Act, and to $806.45 billion by the Economic Aid to Hard-Hit Small Businesses, Nonprofits, and Venues Act (Division N, Title III of the Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2021). The availability of PPP loans was extended to August 8, 2020, by P.L. 116-147, to extend the authority for commitments for the paycheck protection program, and to March 31, 2021, by the Economic Aid to Hard-Hit Small Businesses, Nonprofits, and Venues Act (Division N, Title III of the Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2021). P.L. 116-142, the Paycheck Protection Program Flexibility Act, increased the minimum loan maturity to five years for loans made on or after the date of enactment (June 5, 2020).
- Waived the up-front loan guarantee fee and annual servicing fee, the no credit elsewhere requirement, and the requirements for collateral and a personal guarantee for a covered loan.
- Provided PPP eligibility to 7(a) eligible businesses and any business, 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization, 501(c)(19) veteran’s organization, or Tribal business that has 500 or fewer employees or, if applicable, the SBA’s size standard in number of employees for the industry in which they operate. Sole proprietors, independent contractors, and eligible self-employed individuals are also eligible. The term employee includes individuals employed on a full-time, part-time, or other basis.
- Set the maximum PPP loan amount as the lesser of (1) 2.5 times the average total monthly payments by the applicant for payroll costs incurred during the one-year period before the date on which the loan is made plus the outstanding balance of any pre-existing Economic Injury Disaster Loan made on or after January 31, 2020 that is refinanced into the PPP loan, or (2) $10 million.
- Allows PPP loans to be used for all allowable 7(a) loan uses, but, to receive full loan forgiveness, borrowers must use the loan proceeds for payroll costs, costs related to the continuation of group health care benefits during periods of paid sick, medical, or family leave, and insurance premiums, employee salaries, commissions, or similar compensations, mortgage interest payments, rent, utilities, and interest on any other debt obligations that were incurred before the covered period. Due to anticipated high subscription, the SBA required borrowers to spend at least 75% of their loan amount on payroll. P.L. 116-142 lowered the SBA’s 75% payroll threshold to 60%.
- Expanded lender delegated loan approval authority for making PPP loans to all 7(a) lenders and requires borrowers to, among other acknowledgements, make a good faith certification that the loan is needed because of the uncertainty of current economic conditions and to support ongoing operations.

- Authorized complete payment deferment relief on PPP loans (principal, interest, and fees) for not less than six months and not more than one year if the borrower was in operation on February 15, 2020. The SBA announced that because the interest rate is modest (1%) and the loan may be forgiven, PPP loan deferment will be for six months and that principal and interest will accrue and, if not forgiven, will need to be repaid.
- Appropriated $17 billion ($7.1 billion was spent) to pay the principal, interest, and any associated fees that are owed on an existing 7(a), 504/CDC, or Microloan for a six-month period starting on the next payment due. Loans made up until six months after enactment (until September 27, 2020) also receive six months of loan payments. The Economic Aid to Hard-Hit Small Businesses, Nonprofits, and Venues Act (Division N, Title III of the Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2021) appropriated $3.5 billion to resume monthly payment relief for 7(a), 504/CDC, and Microloan borrowers, capped at $9,000 per month per borrower. Payments are dependent on the availability of funds, when the loan was disbursed, the type of loan received, and the business's industry.
- Provides for the forgiveness of PPP loan amounts equal to the amount the borrower spent during an eight-week period after the loan's origination date on payroll costs, interest payment on any mortgage incurred prior to February 15, 2020, payment of rent on any lease in force prior to February 15, 2020, and payment on any utility for which service began before February 15, 2020. P.L. 116-142, the Paycheck Protection Program Flexibility Act, extended the PPP loan forgiveness period from 8 weeks after the loan's origination date to the earlier of 24 weeks or December 31, 2020. PPP borrowers that received a loan prior to enactment (June 5, 2020) may elect to remain under the eight-week period. The forgiveness cannot exceed the loan's principal amount. The Economic Aid to Hard-Hit Small Businesses, Nonprofits, and Venues Act (Division N, Title III of the Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2021) allows PPP borrowers to elect to remain under the eight-week period regardless of when they received the loan.
- Reduced the loan forgiveness proportionally by formulas related to the borrower's retention of full-time equivalent employees and by the amount of any reduction in pay of any employee beyond 25% of their salary or wages during the most recent full quarter before the covered period. Borrowers that re-hire workers previously laid off are not penalized for having a reduced payroll at the beginning of the period. Cancelled debt resulting from loan forgiveness is not included in the borrower's taxable federal income.
- Temporarily increased the SBAExpress loan limit from $350,000 to $1 million (reverts to $350,000 on January 1, 2021). The Economic Aid to Hard-Hit Small Businesses, Nonprofits, and Venues Act (Division N, Title III of the Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2021) extended the temporary increase in the SBAExpress loan limit from $350,000 to $1 million (reverting to $500,000 on October 1, 2021) and increases the SBAExpress guaranty rate for loans of $350,000 or less from 50% to 75% in FY2021.
- Eliminated the zero subsidy requirement to waive SBAExpress loan fees for veterans.
